Uncle Wiggily

HIS MARK

UNCLE WIGGILY'S ROLLING HOOP OR HOW THE BUNNY GENTLEMAN GETS MIXED UP

1. One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, wishing for an adventure, all of a sudden he heard a voice calling: "Look out! Look out! It's coming!" Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose. "Perhaps it is an adventure that is coming," thought the bunny. But it was the hoop of Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl. It ran away from her and tangled itself up in Uncle Wiggily's legs. Oh, Susie, my dear!

2. Uncle Wiggily tried to jump out of Susie's hoop, after the round wooden ring tangled itself on his legs, but the more he tried to stand up the more the bunny gentleman sat down. "I am afraid Susie, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily, as he looked at the little rabbit girl, "I'm afraid you don't know how to roll a hoop straight." Susie said: "I'm afraid so, too, Uncle Wiggily. Please give me a hoop lesson."

3. “This is the way to do it, Susie,” said Uncle Wiggily, when he had untangled himself from the wooden ring. “It is easy once you learn how. Drive your hoop straight, and, when you see some one coming, steer out of their way.” Susie trotted beside Uncle Wiggily. “Some one is coming now,” said the rabbit girl. “It’s Aunt Lettie, the goat. I hope you don’t tangle her in the hoop, Uncle Wiggily!”

4. “Oh, no danger, Susie!” laughed the bunny. “I know how to manage a rolling hoop. I’ll just send it to one side of Aunt Lettie and—” But just then the hoop gave a sudden bounce and the bunny lost it. “Oh, come back!” he cried. But the hoop rushed straight at the goat lady. “Oh, how nervous I am!” bleated Aunt Lettie. “What shall I do.” Uncle Wiggily shouted to jump aside, but it was too late.

5. “Oh, I just know something is going to happen!” bleated Aunt Lettie as she fell to the ground, all tangled in the hoop. “It has already happened,” spoke Uncle Wiggily. “Don’t worry. The worst is over. I beg your pardon, Aunt Lettie.” Then the bunny gentleman and little girl helped the goat lady up. “You don’t want me to drive a hoop that way, do you?” asked Susie. “No, I’ll give you a new lesson.”

6. “Oh, you’re going fine now, Uncle Wiggily!” cried Susie, as she ran along beside the bunny gentleman, who was once more driving the hoop. “Hush, Susie, my dear, please don’t say a word,” begged the bunny in a whisper. “Something may happen.” Aunt Lettie hurried away. “I hope it doesn’t happen to me,” she bleated. Susie tried not to laugh. “I guess it will happen to the bears,” she whispered.

7. Faster and faster rolled the hoop, until it rolled away from Uncle Wiggily again, right at Mr. Stubtail, the brown bear, and Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear who had been talking together. Over their heads flew the hoop. “A trap!” roared Mr. Stubtail, turning and trying to pull away. “I’m caught!” grunted Mr. Whitewash, and he pulled the other way, until Susie’s hoop looked like an egg, and Susie cried.

8. “Gentlemen! Bear gentlemen! Don’t rush so!” called Uncle Wiggily to Mr. Whitewash and Mr. Stubtail. “You are only in Susie’s hoop—not a trap. I’ll soon get you out.” The bunny jumped in between the two bears but, just then, the stretched-out hoop sprang together like a rubber band, and Uncle Wiggily was bunched between the backs of the bears. “Oh, I feel like a pancake!” he cried.

9. After a great deal of wiggling, the two bears managed to get outside of Susie's hoop. And they stopped squeezing Uncle Wiggily. The bunny sat down on the ground, feeling very sad. "Never again will I roll a hoop!" he exclaimed. "And I—I can't, either!" sobbed Susie, as the bear gentlemen dried her tears. "My hoop looks like a fried cake. Boo hoo!" But Uncle Wiggily gave her money for a new one.

And if the boiled egg doesn't try to dance on top of the piano and fall off on the rocking chair where it might crack its shell, the next pictures and story, will be about Uncle Wiggily and the Snappy Shark.

WHEN SAILING IN A BOAT, IF NO WIND
BLOWS, YOU FLOAT. AND IF THE BAD SHARK
CHASES AFTER, WHY, GREET HIM WITH SOME HEARTY LAUGHTER.

1. Having nothing special to do, Uncle Wiggily built himself a sail boat from a wash tub and some old boards. "Come and take a ride with me, Nurse Jane," he invited. "You need a little rest from washing dishes all the while." The muskrat lady housekeeper thought this would be great fun.

“But suppose something happens to us, Uncle Wiggily?” she asked. “It will be an adventure!” laughed the rabbit.

2. Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane took their places in the washtub boat. “All aboard!” cried Uncle Wiggily. At first the wind blew just right, and away sailed Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane. “A happy voyage!” grunted Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman, waving his handkerchief at them. “But look out for the Snappy Shark. I heard he was splashing around in this duck pond ocean!”

3. The wind, blowing strong at first, blew Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane out into the middle of the duck pond ocean. Then, as often happens, the wind died away and all was calm. "We aren't moving!" cried the muskrat lady. "No, we need some wind," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "I'll fan the sail," offered Nurse Jane. "And I'll blow on it," added Uncle Wiggily. But all this did no good. The ship stood still.

4. While Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were trying to make their boat go, the Snappy Shark met the Skillery Scallery Alligator near shore. "Who's out in that boat?" asked the Shark. "Uncle Wiggily," grunted the 'Gator. "Good!" whispered the Shark. "I'll chase him from behind, and you swim in front of the boat so he can't escape that way. Between us we'll catch him and nibble his ears. Get ready!"

5. No matter how hard Nurse Jane fanned, nor how hard Uncle Wiggily blew, they could not, of course, make wind enough to move the boat. Then the bunny said: "I'll do as the sailors do. I'll whistle a tune and see if that will bring a breeze!" So Uncle Wiggily began to whistle, but Nurse Jane cried: "Stop! You have called the Snappy Shark instead of the wind! Oh, what shall we do to get away?"

6. “Don’t be afraid!” cried Uncle Wiggily, when Nurse Jane told about the Shark. “If the wind won’t blow our boat I’ll jump in and swim ashore, pulling the boat after me with the anchor and rope.” Just as the bunny was about to jump in, he saw, in front of his ship, the Skillery Scallery Alligator swimming along. “Ah, I have a better plan!” laughed the bunny. “I’ll make the ’Gator pull us to shore!”

7. Uncle Wiggily dropped the anchor and tow rope so that it caught on one of the 'Gator's legs, and then the Skillery Scallery creature had to pull the boat along, whether he wanted to or not. "Stop! Stop! Stop!" cried the Shark. "How can I nibble ears when you are pulling Uncle Wiggily away?" But the 'Gator would not stop, not knowing any better. "I'll cut the rope when we are near shore!" said the bunny.

8. "What are you doing, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as the 'Gator towed the boat faster and faster. "Trying to sprinkle pepper in the eyes of the Shark," answered the muskrat lady. "Never mind about that," said Uncle Wiggily. "We are close to the dock now, and I'll cut the rope so we'll drift in." Then the bunny did this, and then he had to fan Nurse Jane, who fainted. Now what comes next?

9. Safely to the dock floated Uncle Wiggily's boat, which had been towed by the 'Gator, even if there was no wind. "Oh, such a voyage!" cried Nurse Jane, as Mr. Twistytail helped her off the ship. "But see what happened to the Shark and 'Gator!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Their plans went wrong. They bunked together and how angry they are!" The Shark blamed the 'Gator and the 'Gator blamed the Shark!

And if the lead pencil doesn't give the fountain pen a black mark for staying out too late at the moving pictures, you shall next hear about Uncle Wiggily's Bob Sled.

UNCLE WIGGILY MADE A BOB SLED TO GIVE HIS FRIENDS A SLIDE; BUT QUICKLY
DUMPED THE BUSHY BEAR WHO TRIED TO STEAL A RIDE.

1. One day, early in the new year, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy heard queer, pounding noises out in the wood shed. "I hope that isn't the Fuzzy Fox trying to break in to nibble ears," she said. And when she looked in the shed she saw Uncle Wiggily and Uncle Butter making a coasting bob sled. "You are too old for such fun!” laughed Nurse Jane. “I’ll show you how to slide down hill!” said Uncle Wiggily.

2. At last the bob sled was finished and Uncle Wiggily and his goat friend started pulling it toward the coasting hill. On the way they saw Aunt Lettie. “Come on,” spoke Uncle Wiggily, “we’ll give her a ride. She’ll tell Nurse Jane about it and my muskrat lady housekeeper will know I’m a good sled-maker.” Up behind Aunt Lettie the two friends pulled the bob. “How you startled me!” she bleated. “Baa-a-a!”

3. “How are you enjoying yourself, Aunt Lettie?” asked Uncle Wiggily, as the goat lady sat on the bob and was hauled away. “Oh, I am having a lovely time, thank you,” she bleated. “But there is poor Mrs. Twistytail just ahead. She is so fat she has to sit down to rest her feet.” Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and said: “Why not give the lady pig a ride? We have plenty of room.” So they asked her.

4. Mrs. Twistytail was very glad to get on the bob sled of Uncle Wiggily, and while the two animal ladies were enjoying the ride, the Bob Cat and Bushy Bear happened to see them. "Oh, I know how we can catch Uncle Wiggily!" whispered the Bear. "How?" asked the Bob Cat. "I'll tell you in my den," growled the Bear. "It's time we had some nibbles off that rabbit's ears. This time we'll get him!"

5. To the Bear's den the two bad chaps hurried. "Come, Wife!" growled the bushy bruin fellow, "give me some of your old dresses, a bonnet and a shawl!" Mrs. Bruin wanted to know if they were to be sold to the rag man. "No!" growled Mr. Bruin. "I'm going to dress up like an old lady. Uncle Wiggily will invite me to ride on his bob sled. When I'm on I'll jump off and nibble his ears. Give me a dress!"

6. When the Bushy Bear was dressed in some of his wife's old clothes, he went out and stood in the road, turning his back. "You look just like a poor old woman!" whispered the hidden Bob Cat. And when the bunny and Uncle Butter came along with the bob sled, the rabbit said: "Look, there's another poor, old, tired lady. We'll give her a ride. We must be kind to the old folks. Hop on, lady!" he cried.

7. Keeping the bonnet pulled down over his face, the Bushy Bear, pretending to be a lady, got on the bob sled. "Put your paws around me and hold on," invited Mrs. Twistytail. But as soon as the Bear did that, he showed his long claws, which the pig lady saw. "Oh, mercy!" squealed Mrs. Twistytail. "This is dreadful!" The bunny and the goat, who were giving the ladies a ride, turned to see what was the matter.

8. "This isn't a poor old lady at all!" squeaked Mrs. Twistytail. "It's the Bushy Bear with a dress on!" Then Uncle Wiggily saw that he had been fooled. "Quick, Uncle Butter!" whispered the rabbit. "Give the rope a hard pull! We'll get rid of the bad chap!" Jerking on the sled suddenly, the Bear was jiggled off backward. "Now let's run to the hill and coast down!" cried the bunny. "Run fast, Butter!"

9. Away ran the bunny and the goat, pulling the sled with the animal ladies on it. Casting aside his wife's dress, which tangled in his legs, the Bushy Bear tried to follow. But Uncle Wiggily soon reached the top of the coasting hill. "Down we go!" he cried as he and the goat jumped on the sled and slid to safety. "Fooled again!" growled the Bear, sitting down on top of the hill. "Plop him!" cried the Squiggles.

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility: www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
