Actus Primus

Scena Prima

Enter Gaspero, and Melitus

Sir, you're the very friend I wish'd to meet with,
I have a large discourse invites your ear
To be an Auditor.

pero

And what concerns it?

itus

The sadly thriving progress of the loves Between my Lord, the Prince, and that great Lady, Whose insolence, and never-yet-match'd Pride,
Can by no Character be well exprest,
But in her only name, the proud Erota.

pero

Alas, Melitus, I should guess the best Success your Prince could find from her, to be As harsh as the event doth prove: but now
'Tis not a time to pity passionate griefs,
When a whole Kingdom in a manner lyes Upon its Death-Bed bleeding.

itus

Who can tell Whether or no these plagues at once Hang over this unhappy Land for her sake That is a Monster in it?

pero

Here's the misery
Of having a Child our Prince; else I presume
The bold Venetians had not dar'd to attempt So bloody an invasion.

itus

Yet I wonder Why (Master Secretary) still the Senate
So almost superstitiously adores

Gonzalo, the Venetian Lord, considering The outrage of his Countrymen--

pero

The Senate
Is wise, and therein just, for this Gonzalo, Upon a Massacre performed at Sea
By the Admiral of Venice, on a Merchant Of Candy, when the cause was to be heard Before the Senate there, in open Court Professed, that the cruelty the Admiral Had shewed, deserved not only fine, but death;
For Candy then, and Venice were at peace:
Since when upon a motion in the Senate,
For Conquest of our Land, 'tis known for certain,
That only this Gonzalo dar'd to oppose it,
His reason was, because it too much savour'd
Of lawless and unjust ambition.
The Wars were scarce begun, but he (in fear Of quarrels 'gainst his life) fled from his Country, And hither came, where (to confirm his truth)
I know, (Melitus,) he out of his own store, Hath monied Cassilanes the General.

itus

What, without other pledges than Cassilanes Bare promise of payment?

pero

No, it may be
He has some [pe]tty Lordship to retire to;
But thus he hath done; now 'tis fit, Melitus,
The Senate should be thankful, otherwise They should annihilate one of those Laws
For which this Kingdome is throughout the World Unfollowed and admired.

itus

What Laws are those, Sir?
Let me so much importune you.

pero

You shall,
And they be worth your knowledge: briefly thus:
Who e'r he be that can detect apparently Another of ingratitude, for any Received Benefit, the Plaintiff may Require the Offenders life; unless he please Freely and willingly to grant remission.

itus

By which strict Law, the Senate is in danger, Should they neglect Gonzalo?

pero

Right, the Law Permits a like equality to Aliens, As to a home-bred Patriot.

itus

Pray Sir, the other?

pero

Know, Melitus,
The elder Cretans flourished many years,
In War, in Peace unparallel'd, and they (To spur heroic Spirits on to Vertue) Enacted that what man so ere he were,
Did noblest in the field against his enemy,
So by the general voice approv'd, and known,
Might at his home-return, make his demand For satisfaction, and reward.

itus

They are Both famous Laws indeed.

Enter a Messenger

senger

Master Secretary,
The Senate is about to sit, and crave Your presence.

pero

What, so suddenly?

senger

These Letters
Will shew the causes why.

pero

Heaven, thou art great,
And worthy to be thanked!

itus

Your countenance, Sir, Doth promise some good tidings.

pero

O the best
And happiest for this land that e'r was told!
All the Venetian Forces are defeated.

itus

How, Sir?

pero

And what doth add some delight more,
There is amongst the Souldiers a contention Who shall be the triumpher, and it stands Doubtful between a Father and his Son, Old Cassilanes, and young Antinous.

itus

Why may not both demand it?

pero

The Law denies it,
But where the Souldiers do not all consent,
The Parties in contention, are refer'd
To plead before the Senate; and from them Upon an open audience to be judg'd
The Chief, and then to make demands.

itus

You ravish me
With wonder and delight.

pero

Come; as we walk,
I shall more fully inform you.
[Exeunt.

SCENE II

Enter Cassilanes, Arcanes, Antinous, and Decius.

silanes

Admit no Souldier near us till the Senate Have took their places.

anes

You are obey'd, my Lord.

inous

Decius, fall off.

ius

I shall.

silanes

Give leave Arcanes:
Young man, come nearer to me: who am I?

inous

It were a sin against the piety
Of filial duty, if I should forget The debt I owe my Father on my knee:
Your pleasure?

silanes

What, so low? canst thou find joints, Yet be an Elephant? Antinous, rise;
Thou wilt belye opinion, and rebate
The ambition of thy gallantry, that they Whose confidence thou hast bewitch'd, should see Their little God of War, kneel to his Father, Though in my hand I did grasp Thunder.

inous

Sir,
For proof that I acknowledge you the Author Of giving me my Birth, I have discharg'd A part of my Obedience. But if now You should (as cruel fathers do) proclaim Your right, and Tyrant-like usurp the glory Of my peculiar honours, not deriv'd
From successary, but purchas'd with my bloud, Then I must stand first Champion for my self Against all interposers.

silanes

Boldly urg'd,
And proudly, I could love thee, did not anger Consult with just disdain, in open language To call thee most ungrateful. Say freely, Wilt thou resign the flatteries whereon
The reeling pillars of a popular breath
Have rais'd thy Giant-like conceit, to add A suffrage to thy Fathers merit? speak.

inous

Sir, hear me: were there not a Chronicle
Well pen'd by all their tongues, who can report
What they have seen you do; or had you not Best in your own performance writ your self,
And been your own text, I would undertake Alone, without the help of Art, or Character,
But only to recount your deeds in Arms,
And you should ever then be fam'd a President Of living victory: But as you are Great, and well worthy to be stiled Great,
It would betray a poverty of Spirit
In me to obstruct my fortunes, or descent,
If I should coward-like surrender up
The interest which the inheritance of your vertue
And mine own thrifty fate can claim in honour:
My Lord, of all the mass of Fame, which any That wears a Sword, and hath but seen me fight, Gives me, I will not share, nor yield one jot, One tittle.

silanes

Not to me?

inous

You are my Father,
Yet not to you.

silanes

Ambitious Boy, how dar'st thou To tell me, that thou wilt contend?

inous

Had I
Been slothful, and not follow'd you in all The streights of death, you might have justly then Reputed me a Bastard: 'tis a cruelty More than to murder Innocents, to take The life of my yet infant-honour from me.

silanes

Antinous, look upon this badge of age,
Thy Father's grey-hair'd beard: full fifty years, (And more than half of this, ere thou wert born)
I have been known a Souldier, in which time
I found no difference 'twixt War and Peace, For War was Peace to me, and Peace was War.
Antinous, mark me well; there hath not liv'd
These fifty years a man whom Crete prefer'd Before thy Father; let me boldly boast, Thy Father, both for Discipline a[n]d Action Hath so long been the first of all his Nation;
Now, canst thou think it honest, charitable,
Nay humane, being so young, my Son, my Child, Begot, bred, taught by me, by me thy Father,
For one days service, and that on thy first,
To rob me of a glory which I fought for A half of hundred years?

inous

My case observes
Both equity and presidents; for Sir,
That very day whereon you got your Fame,
You took it from some other, who was then Chief in repute, as you are now, and has been Perhaps as many years deserving that Which you gain'd in a day, as I have mine.

silanes

But he was not my Father then, Antinous; Thou leav'st out that.

inous

Sir, had he been your Father,
He had been then immortal; for a Father Heightens his reputation where his Son Inherits it, as when you give us life,
Your life is not diminish'd but renew'd

In us when you are dead, and we are still Your living Images.

silanes

So be thou curs'd
In thy posterity, as I in thee, Dishonourable Boy; O shall that Sun,
Which not a year yet since beheld me mounted Upon a fiery Steed, waving my Sword,
And teaching this young Man to manage Arms,
That was a raw, fresh Novice in the feats Of Chivalrie, shall that same Sun be witness Against this Brat of his Ingratitude?
Who, to eclipse the light of my renown,
Can no way hope to get a noble Name,
But by the treading on his Father's Greatness; Thou wilt not yield?

Enter Arcanes

inous

My life, but not the prize
My Sword hath purchas'd.

anes

The Senate,
My Lord, are here at hand, and all the Souldiers Begin to throng about them.

silanes

Now, Arcanes, the--

anes

What, Sir?

silanes

Trifles will affront us; that Fine fighting Stripling.

anes

Let him have the shame on't;
'Please you withdraw on this side.

silanes

My great heart
Was never quail'd before.

ius

My Lord, be confident, Let not your Father daunt you.

anes

Decius, whither Must I withdraw?

ius

On this side.--See, the Souldiers Attend your pleasure--courage, Sir; the Senate.

silanes

Way for the Senate.

Enter Porphyccio, Possenne, (three Senators) Gonzalo, Gaspero, Souldiers

My good Lords I know not What tax of arrogance I may incur, Should I presume, though courted by your Favours,
To take a place amongst you; I had rather Give proof of my unfeign'd humility
By force, though mean, yet more becoming place, Than run the hazard of a doubtful censure.

senne

My Lord, your wisdom is both known and try'd;
We cannot rank you in a nobler Friendship Than your great service to the State deserves.

phyccio

Will't please you, Sir?

Enter Fernando with Souldiers.

zalo

What's here, my Lord Porphyccio?
It must not be.

phyccio

My Lord, you are too modest.

zalo

It is no season to be troublesome, Else--but I have done: your Lordships are observ'd.

pero

Is the demandant ready?

anes

He is ready.

pero

Produce him then.

anes

Before this sacred presence,
I, by a general consent, am made
The Souldiers voice, and to your gracious Wisdoms, Present as chief in Arms, his Countries Champion, Cassilanes.

ius

Most reverend Lords, you hear the lesser number Of those who have been Guardians to this Country, Approve this Champion; I, in all their names,
Who fought for Candy, here present before you
The mightiest man in Arms, Antinous.
Speak fellow Souldiers.

ldiers

Antinous, Antinous.

pero

Stand by all, save the two Competitors.

enne

My Lords, how much your Countrey owes you both,
The due reward of your desertful glories Must to Posterity remain: but yet Since, by our Law, one only can make claim To the proposed honours which you both (It seems) have truly merited, take leave Freely to plead your rights; we shall attend ye.

phycio

Wherein priority of voice is granted, Lord Cassilanes to you; for that your rare
And long experience in the Course of War,
As well doth challenge it as the best priviledge Of Order and Civility, for that You are your brave Opponents worthy Father.
Say, Country-men, are you content?

ldiers

I, I.

Right grave, right gracious Fathers; how unfit It is for me, that all my life time have Been practis'd in the School of Bloud, and Slaughter
To bandy words now in my lifes last farewell, Your Wisedomes will consider; were there pitcht Another, and another field, like that Which, not yet three days since, this Arm hath scatter'd, Defeated, and made nothing, then the man That had a heart to think he could but follow (For equal me he should not) through the lanes Of danger and amazement, might in that
That only of but following me, be happy, Reputed worthy to be made my Rival;
For 'tis not, Lords, unknown to those about me, (My fellow Souldiers) first, with what a confidence I led them on to fight, went on still, and

As if I could have been a second Nature,
As well in heartening them by my example,
As by my exhortation, I gave life
To quicken courage, to inflame revenge,
To heighten resolution; in a word,
To out-doe action: It boots not to discover,
How that young man, who was not fledg'd nor skill'd In Martial play, was even as ignorant As childish: But I list not to disparage His non-ability: The signal given Of Battel, when our enemies came on, (Directed more by fury, than by warrant Of Policy and Stratagem) I met them,
I in the fore-front of the Armies met them;
And as if this old weather-beaten body
Had been compos'd of cannon-proof, I stood The volleys of their shot. I, I my self Was he that first dis-rankt their woods of Pikes:
But when we came to handy-stroaks, as often As I lent blows, so often I gave wounds,
And every wound a death. I may be bold To justifie a truth, this very sword
Of mine slew more than any twain besides:
And, which is not the least of all my glorie,
When he, this young man, hand to hand in fight,
Was by the General of the Venetians,
And such as were his retinue, unhors'd,
I stept between, and rescu'd him my self,
Or horses hoofs had trampled him to dirt;
And whilst he was re-mounting, I maintain'd
The combate with the gallant General, Till having taken breath, he throng'd before me, Renew'd the fight, and with a fatal blow, Stole both that honour from me, and his life
From him, whom I before my self alone,
Had more than full three quarters kill'd: a man Well worthy only by this hand to have dy'd,

Not by a Boys weak push: I talk too much,
But 'tis a fault of age: If to bring home Long peace, long victorie, even to your Capitol;
If to secure your Kingdom, wives, and children,
Your lives and liberties; if to renown
Your honours through the world, to fix your names, Like Blazing stars admir'd, and fear'd by all That have but heard of Candy, or a Cretan,
Be to deserve the approvement of my man-hood, Then thus much have I done: what more, examine The annals of my life; and then consider What I have been, and am. Lords I have said.

zalo

With reverence to the Senate, is it lawfull, Without your Customes breach, to say a word?

senne

Say on my Lord Gonzalo.

zalo

I have heard,
And with no little wonder, such high deeds
Of Chivalrie discours'd, that I confess,
I do not think the Worthies while they liv'd
All nine, deserv'd as much applause, or memorie, As this one: But who can do ought to gain
The crown of honour from him, must be somewhat More than a man; you tread a dangerous path, Yet I shall hear you gladly: for believe me,
Thus much let me profess, in honours cause,
I would not to my Father, nor my King, (My Countries Father) yield: if you transcend What we have heard, I can but only say, That Miracles are yet in use. I fear
I have offended.

phycio

You have spoken nobly.
Antinous use your priviledge.

inous

Princely Fathers, E're I begin, one suit I have to make,
'Tis just, and honourable.

phycio Possenne

Speak, and have it.

inous

That you would please the souldiers might all stand Together by their General.

ienne

'Tis granted.
All fall to yonder side: Go on, Antinous.

inous

I shall be brief and plain: all what my Father (This Countries Patron) hath discours'd, is true.
Fellows in Arms: speak you, is't true?

ldiers

True, true.

inous

It follows, that the blaze of my performance Took light from what I saw him do: and thus A City (though the flame be much more dreadfull)
May from a little spark be set on fire;
Of all what I have done, I shall give instance Only in three main proofs of my desert.
First I sought out (but through how many dangers My Lords judge ye) the chief, the great Commander,
The head of that huge body, whose proud weight Our Land shrunk under, him I found and fought with, Fought with, and slew. Fellows in Arms, speak you, Is't true or not?

ldiers

True, true.

inous

When he was faln,
The hearts of all our adversaries Began to quail, till young Fernando, son
To the last Duke of Venice gather'd head,
And soon renew'd the field, by whose example
The bold Venetians doubling strength and courage Had got the better of the day; our men Supposing that their adversaries grew Like Hydra's head, recoyle, and 'gan to flye:
I follow'd them; and what I said, they know;
The summe on't is; I call'd them back, new rankt them;
Led on, they follow'd, shrunk not t[i]ll the end:
Fellows in Arms is't true, or no?

ldiers

True, true.

inous

Lastly, to finish all, there was but one,
The only great exploit; which was to take Fernando prisoner, and that hand to hand In single fight I did: my self without The help of any arm, save the arm of Heaven.
Speak Souldiers, is it true, or no?

ldiers

Antinous, Antinous.

inous

Behold my prisoner, Fathers.

ando

This one man
Ruin'd our Army, and hath glorifi'd Crete in her robes of mightiness and conquest.

senne

We need not use long circumstance of words, Antinous thou art conquerer: the Senate,
The souldiers, and thy valour have pronounc'd it.

Antinous, Antinous.

phycio

Make thy demand.

silanes

Please ye (my Lords) give leave That I may part.

senne

No Cassilane, the Court Should therein be dishonour'd, do not imagin
We prize your presence at so slight a rate.
Demand, Antinous.

inous

Thus (my Lords) to witness
How far I am from arrogance, or thinking
I am more valiant, though more favour'd Than my most matchless father, my demand is,
That for a lasting memorie of his name,
His deeds, his real, nay his royal worth,
You set up in your Capitol in Brass My Fathers Statue, there to stand for ever A Monument and Trophy of his victories,
With this Inscription to succeeding ages, Great Cassilanes, Patron of Candy's Peace, Perpetual Triumpher.

phycio Possenne

It is granted. What more?

inous

No more.

silanes

How Boy?

zalo

Thou art immortal,
Both for thy Son-like pietie, and beauties
Of an unconquer'd minde.

My Prisoner, Lords,
To your more sacred wisdoms I surrender:
Fit you his ransom; half whereof I give For largess to the Souldiers: the other half To the erection of this monument.

silanes

Ambitious villain.

zalo

Thou art all un-imitable.
My Lords, to work a certain peace for Candy
With Venice, use Fernando like a Prince; His ransom I'll disburse what e're it be:
Yet you may stay him with you, till conditions Of amitie shall be concluded on:
Are ye content?

phycio

We are, and ever rest Both friends and debtors to your nobleness.

zalo

Souldiers attend me in the Market-place, Fie thither send your largess.

ldiers

Antinous, Antinous.
[Exeunt.

silanes

I have a sute too, Lords.

phycio Possenne

Propose it, 'tis yours, if fit and just.

silanes

Let not my services,
My being forty years a drudge, a pack-horse
To you, and to the State, be branded now With Ignominy ne're to be forgotten:
Rear me no Monument, unless you mean To have me fam'd a Coward, and be stamp'd so.

senne

We understand you not.

silanes

Proud boy, thou dost,
And Tyrant-like insult'st upon my shame.

inous

Sir, Heaven can tell, and my integrity,
What I did, was but only to inforce
The Senates gratitude. I now acknowledge it.

silanes

Observe it Fathers, how this haughty boy Grows cunning in his envy of mine honours:
He knows no mention can of me be made,
But that it ever likewise must be told,
How I by him was master'd; and for surety
That all succeeding times may so report it,
He would have my dishonour, and his Triumphs Ingrav'd in Brass: hence, hence proceeds the falshood
Of his insinuating piety.
Thou art no child of mine: thee and thy bloud, Here in the Capitol, before the Senate,
I utterly renounce: So thrift and fate Confirm me; henceforth never see my face,

Be, as thou art, a villain to thy Father.
Lords I must crave your leaves: come, come Arcanes.
[Ex.

zalo

Here's a strange high-born spirit.

ienne

'Tis but heat
Of suddain present rage; I dare assure Antinous of his favour.

inous

I not doubt it,
He is both a good man, and a good Father.
I shall attend your Lordships.

ienne

Do Antinous.

zalo

Yes: feast thy Triumphs With applause and pleasures.

phycio Possenne

Lead on.
[Exeunt. Flor. Cornets.

inous

I utterly renounce--'Twas so?
Was't not, my Decius?

ius

Pish, you know, my Lord, Old men are cholerick.

inous

And lastly parted
With, never henceforth see my face: O me, How have I lost a Father? Such a Father!

Such a one Decius! I am miserable, Beyond expression.

ius

Fie, how unbecoming
This shews upon your day of fame!

inous

O mischief!
I must no more come near him; that I know,
And am assur'd on't.

ius

Say you do not?

inous

True:
Put case I do not: what is Candy then To lost Antinous? Malta, I resolve To end my dayes in thee.

ius

How's that?

inous

I'll trie
All humble means of being reconcil'd,
Which if deny'd, then I may justly say,
This day has prov'd my worst: Decius, my worst.
[Exeunt.

Actus Secundus

Scena Prima

Enter Gonzalo, and Gaspero

pero

Now to what you have heard; as no man can Better than I, give you her Character; For I have been both nurs'd, and train'd up to Her petulant humours, and been glad to bear them,
Her Brother, my late Master, did no less:
Strong apprehensions of her beauty hath Made her believe that she is more than woman:
And as there did not want those flatterers
'Bout the worlds Conquerour, to make him think,
And did perswade him that he was a god;
So there be those base flies, that will not stick To buzze into her ears she is an Angel,
And that the food she feeds on is Ambrosia.

zalo

She should not touch it then, 'tis Poets fare.

pero

I may take leave to say, she may as well Determine of her self to be a goddess,
With lesser flatterie than he a god:
For she does conquer more, although not farther.
Every one looks on her, dyes in despair,
And would be glad to do it actually,
To have the next age tell how worthily,
And what good cause he had to perish so:
Here beauty is superlative, she knows it,
And knowing it, thinks no man can deserve,
But ought to perish, and to dye for her:
Many great Princes for her love have languish'd, And given themselves a willing sacrifice, Proud to have ended so: And now there is A Prince so madd'd in his own passions, That he forgets the Royaltie he was born to,
And deems it happiness to be her slave.

You talk as if you meant to winde me in,
And make me of the number.

pero

Sir, mistake me not, the service that I owe ye Shall plead for me: I tell you what she is,
What she expects, and what she will effect,
Unless you be the miracle of men,
That come with a purpose to behold,
And goe away your self.

zalo

I thank you, I will do it: But pray resolve me, How is she stor'd with wit?

pero

As with beauty, Infinite, and more to be admired at,
Than medled with.

zalo

And walks her tongue the same gate with her feet?

pero

Much beyond: what e're her heart thinks, she utters:
And so boldly, so readily, as you would judge
It penn'd and studied.

Enter Erotia, Philander, Annophil, Hyparcha, Mochingo, Attendants

zalo

She comes.

pero

I must leave you then,
But my best wishes shall remain with you.
[Exit.]

zalo

Still I must thank you.
This is the most passionate,
Most pitifull Prince,
Who in the Caldron of affections, Looks as he had been par-boy'ld.

ander

If I offend with too much loving you,
It is a fault that I must still commit,
To make your mercy shine the more on me.

ta

You are the self-same creature you condemn,
Or else you durst not follow me with hope That I can pity you, who am so far From granting any comfort in this kind,
That you and all men else shall perish first:
I will live free and single, till I find Something above a man to equal me;
Put all your brave Heroes into one,
Your Kings and Emperours, and let him come In person of a man, and I should scorn him:
Must, and will scorn him.
The god of love himself hath lost his eyes,
His Bow and Torch extinguish'd, and the Poets
That made him first a god, have lost their fire
Since I appear'd, and from my eyes must steal it.
This I dare speak; and let me see the man,
Now I have spoke it, that doth, dare deny;
Nay, not believe it.

hingo

He is mad that does not.

ta

Have not all the nations of the Earth heard of me?
Most come to see me, and seeing me, return'd Full of my praises? teaching their Chroniclers

To make their Stories perfect? for where the name, Merely the word of fair Erota stands,
It is a lasting History to time,
Begetting admiration in the men,
And in my own Sex envie: which glorie's lost,
When I shall stick my beautie in a cloud,
And clearly shine through it.

zalo

This woman's in the altitudes, and he must be A good Astrologer shall know her Zodiack.

For any man to think Himself an able purchaser of you,
But in the bargain there must be declar'd Infinite bounty: otherwise I vow,
By all that's excellent and gracious in you,
I would untenant every hope lodg'd in me,
And yield my self up loves, or your own Martyr.

ta

So you shall please us.

ander

O you cannot be
So heavenly, and so absolute in all things,
And yet retain such cruel tyranny.

ta

I can, I do, I will.

zalo

She is in her Moods, and her Tenses: I'll Grammer with you,
And make a trial how I can decline you:
By your leave (great Lady.)

ta

What are you?

zalo

A man, a good man, that's a wealthy;
A Proper man, and a proud man too; one That understands himself, and knows, unless It be your self, no woman on the Universe deserves him.
Nay, Lady, I must tell you too withal,
I may make doubt of that, unless you paint With better judgement next day than on this;
For (plain I must be with you) 'tis a dull Fucus.

ta

Knows any one here what this fellow is?

ndants

He is of Venice (Madam) a great Magnifico, And gracious with the Senate.

ta

Let him keep then among them; what makes he here?
Here's state enough where I am: here's a do-- You, tell him, if he have ought with us, let him Look lower, and give it in Petition.

hingo

Mighty Magnifico, my Mistris bid me tell you, If you have ought with her, you must look lower,
And yield it in Petition.

zalo

Here is for thee a Ducket.

hingo

You say well Sir, take your own course.

zalo

I will not grace you (Lady) so much as take you by the hand;
But when I shall vouchsafe to touch your lip,
It shall be through your Court a holy-day Proclaimed for so high favour.

ta

This is some Great mans Jester: Sirrah, begon, here is No place to fool in.

zalo

Where are the fools you talk of?
I do keep two.

ta

No question of it: for In your self you do maintain an hundred.

zalo

And besides them I keep a noble train, Statists, and men of action: my purse is large and deep,
Beyond the reach of riot to draw drie:
Fortune did vie with Nature, to bestow (When I was born) her bountie equally:
'Tis not amiss you turn your eyes from me;
For should you stand and gaze me in the face,
You perish would, like Semele by Jove:
In Venice at this instant there do lye
No less than threescore Ladies in their graves, And in their Beds five hundred for my love.

hingo

You lie more than they; yet it becomes him bravel[y];
Would I could walk and talk so! I'll endeavour it.

ta

Sir, do you know me?

zalo

Yes, you were sister to the late Prince of Candy, Aunt to this young one: and I in Venice,
Am born a Lord; equall to you in fortunes,
In shape; I'll say no more, but view.

hingo

There needs no more be said, were I a woman-- O he does rarely: in shape; I'll say no more,
But view: who could say more, who better?
Man is no man, nor woman woman is,
Unless they have a pride like one of these.
How poor the Prince of Cyprus shews to him!
How poor another Lady unto her!
Carriage and State makes us seem demi-gods, Humility, like beasts, worms of the Earth.

Enter Antinous, and Decius.

Antinous

Royal Lady, I kiss your hand.

Antiochus

Sir, I know you not.

Ophelia

O my noble Brother, welcome from the wars.

Antinous

Dear Sister.

Ophelia

Where is my Father, that you come without him?
We have news of your success: he has his health I hope?

Antinous

Yes Sister, he has his health, but is not well.

Ophelia

How not well? what Riddles do you utter?

Antinous

I'll tell you more in private.

Antiochus

Noble Sir,
I cannot be unmindful of your merit,
Since I last heard it: you are a hopeful youth,

And (indeed) the Soul of Candy.
I must speak my thoughts.

ophel

The Prince of Cyprus Brother, good Decius.

inous

I am his Servant.

ander

You are the Patron of your Countrie, Sir,
So your unimitable deeds proclaim you,
It is no language of my own, but all mens.

zalo

Your Enemies must needs acknowledge it:
Then do not think it flatterie in your friends,
For if they had a heart, they could not want a tongue.

ta

Is this your Brother Annophil?

ophel

Yes Madam.

ta

Your name's Antinous?

inous

I am (Lady) that most unfortunate man.

ta

How unfortunate? are you not the Souldier, The Captain of those Captains, that did bring Conquest and Victory home along with you?

inous

I had some share in't; but was the least Of the least worthy.

zalo

O Sir, in your modesty you'ld make A double Conquest: I was an ear-witness When this young man spoke lesser than he acted,
And had the Souldiers voice to help him out:
But that the Law compell'd him for his honour,
To inforce him make a claim for his reward,
I well perceive he would have stood the man
That he does now, buried his worth in silence.

ta

Sir, I hearken not to him, but look on you,
And find more in you than he can relate:
You shall attend on me.

inous

Madam, your pardon.

ta

Deny it not Sir, for it is more honour Than you have gotten i'th' field: for know you shall, Upon Erota's asking, serve Erota.

inous

I may want answers, Lady,
But never want a will to do you service.
I came here to my Sister, to take leave, Having enjoyn'd my self to banishment,
For some cause that hereafter you may hear,
And wish with me I had not the occasion.

ophel

There shall be no occasion to divide us:
Dear Madam for my sake use your power, Even for the service that he ought to owe,
Must, and does owe to you, his friends, and country.

ta

Upon your Loyalty to the state and me, I do command you Sir, not depart Candy:

Am I not your Princess?

inous

You are a great Lady.

ta

Then shew your self a Servant and a Subject.

inous

I am your vassal.

hingo

You are a Coward; I that dare not fight, Scorn to be vassail to any Prince in Europe:
Great is my heart with pride, which I'll encrease
When they are gone, with practise on my Vassals.

ndants

The noble Cassilane is come to see you Madam.

ius

There's comfort in those words, Antinous:
For here's the place, and persons that have power,
To reconcile you to his love again.

inous

That were a fortunate meeting.

Enter Cassilane, and Arcanes.

silanes

Greatness still wait you Lady.

ta

Good Cassilane, we do maintain our greatness, Through your valour.

silanes

My prayers pull daily blessings on thy head,
My un-offending child, my Annophel.
Good Prince, worthy Gonzalo! ha? art thou here

Before me? in every action art thou ambitious?
My duty (Lady) first offered here,
And love to thee (my child) though he out-strip me;
Thus in the wars he got the start on me,
By being forward, but performing less;
All the endeavours of my life are lost,
And thrown upon that evil of mine own Cursed begetting, whom I shame to father.
O that the heat thou rob'dst me of, had burnt Within my Entrails, and begot a fever,
Or some worse sickness, for thou art a disease Sharper than any Physick gives a name to.

ophel

Why do you say so?

silanes

O Annophil; there is good cause my girle:
He has plaid the thief with me, and filch'd away
The richest jewel of my life, my honour, Wearing it publickly with that applause,
As if he justly did inherit it.

inous

Would I had in my Infancy been laid Within my grave, covered with your blessings rather Than grown up to a man, to meet your curses.

silanes

O that thou hadst.
Then I had been the Father of a child, Dearer than thou wert ever unto me,
When hope perswaded me I had begot Another self in thee: Out of mine eyes,
As far as I have thrown thee from my heart,
That I may live and dye forgetting thee.

ta

How has he deserv'd this untam'd anger,
That when he might have ask't for his reward
Some honour for himself, or mass of pelf,
He only did request to have erected Your Statue in the Capitol, with Titles Ingrav'd upon't, The Patron of his Countrey?

silanes

That, that's the poison in the gilded cup,
The Serpent in the flowers, that stings my honour,
And leaves me dead in fame: Gods do a justice,
And rip his bosom up, that men may see,
Seeing, believe the subtle practises Written within his heart: But I am heated,
And do forget this presence, and my self.
Your pardon, Lady.

ta

You should not ask, 'less you knew how to give.
For my sake Cassilane, cast out of your thoughts
All ill conceptions of your worthy son,
That (questionless) has ignorantly offended, Declared in his penitence.

silanes

Bid me dye, Lady, for your sake I'll do it;
But that you'll say is nothing, for a man
That has out-liv'd his honour: But command me
In any thing save that, and Cassilane Shall ever be your servant. Come Annophel, (My joy in this world) thou shalt live with me, (Retired in some solitarie nook,)
The comfort of my age; my dayes are short,
And ought to be well spent: and I desire No other witness of them but thy self,
And good Arcanes.

ophel

I shall obey you Sir.

zalo

Noble Sir:

If you taste any want of worldly means,
Let not that discontent you: know me your friend,
That hath, and can supply you.

silanes

Sir, I am too much bound to you already,
And 'tis not of my cares the least, to give you Fair satisfaction.

zalo

You may imagine I do speak to that end,
But trust me, 'tis to make you bolder with me.

silanes

Sir, I thank you, and may make trial of you, Mean time my service.

ophel

Brother be comforted; so long as I continue Within my Fathers love, you cannot long Stand out an Exile: I must goe live with him,
And I will prove so good an Orator
In your behalf, that you again shall gain him, Or I will stir in him another anger,
And be lost with you.

inous

Better I were neglected: for he is hasty,
And through the Choler that abounds in him, (Which for the time divides from him his judgement)
He may cast you off, and with you his life;
For grief will straight surprize him, and that way Must be his death: the sword has try'd too often,
And all the deadly Instruments of war

Have aim'd at his great heart, but ne're could touch it: Yet not a limb about him wants a scar.

silanes

Madam my duty--

ta

Will you be gone?

silanes

I must, Lady, but I shall be ready,
When you are pleas'd command me, for your service.
Excellent Prince--To all my heartie love,
And a good Farewel.

hingo

Thanks honest Cassilane.

silanes

Come Annophel.

zalo

Shall I not wait upon you Sir?

silanes

From hence you shall not stir a foot:
Loving Gonzalo, it must be all my study To requite you.

zalo

If I may be so fortunate to deserve
The name of friend from you, I have enough.

silanes

You are so, and you have made your self so.

zalo

I will then preserve it.

ta

Antinous you are my servant, are you not?

inous

It hath pleased you so to grace me.

ta

Why are you then dejected? you will say,
You have lost a father; but you have found a Mistris Doubles that loss: be master of your spirit;
You have a cause for it, which is my favour.

zalo

And mine.

ta

Will no man ease me of this fool?

zalo

Your fellow.

ta

Antinous wait upon us.

inous

I shall Madam.

zalo

Nay but Ladie, Ladie.

ta

Sir, you are rude: and if you be the Master Of such means as you do talk of, you should Learn good manners.

zalo

O Lady, you can find a fault in me,
But not perceive it in your self: you must, shall hear me:
I love you for your pride, 'tis the best vertue In you.

ta

I could hang this fellow now: by whom Are you supported, that you dare do this?

Have you not example here in a Prince Transcending you in all things, yet bears himself
As doth become a man had seen my beautie?
Back to your Country, and your Curtizans, Where you may be admired for your wealth,
Which being consum'd, may be a means to gain you
The opinion of some wit. Here's nothing To be got but scorn, and loss of time.

zalo

Which are things I delight in.

ta

Antinous follow me.

[Exit.

zalo

She is vext to the soul.

hingo

Let her be vext, 'tis fit she should be so:
Give me thy hand Gonzalo, thou art in our favour,
For we do love to cherish lofty spirits,
Such as percusse the Earth, and bound With an erected countenance to the clouds.

zalo

'S-foot, what thing is this?

hingo

I do love fire-works, because they mount:
An Exhalation I profess to adore, Beyond a fixed star, 'tis more illustrious,
As every thing rais'd out of smoak is so:
Their vertue is in action: what do you think of me?

zalo

Troth Sir,
You are beyond my gness, I know you not.

hingo

Do you know your self?

zalo

Yes Sir.

hingo

Why you and I are one: I am proud, and Very proud too, that I must tell you; I saw It did become you, cousin Gonzalo, prethee Let it be so.

zalo

Let it be so good cousin.

hingo

I am no great ones fool.

zalo

I hope so, for alliance sake.

hingo

Yet I do serve the Mighty, Monstrous, and Magnanimous Invincible Erota.

zalo

O good cousin, now I have you: I'll meet you in your Coat.

hingo

Coat? I have my horse-mans coat I must confess Lin'd through with Velvet, and a Scarlet out-side;
If you'll meet me in't, I'll send for't;
And cousin you shall see me with much comfort,
For it is both a new one, and a right one,
It did not come collateral.

zalo

Adieu good cousin; at this present I have some business.

hingo

Farewel, excellent cousin.

Actus Tertius

Scena Prima

Enter Gonzalo, and Fernando.

Gonzalo

Candy, I say, is lost already.

Fernando

Yes,
If to be conqueror be to be lost.

Gonzalo

You have it; one days conquest hath undone them.
And sold them to their vassalage; for what Have I else toyl'd my brains, profusely emptied My moneys, but to make them slaves to Venice, That so in case the sword did lose his edge,
Then art might sharpen hers?

Fernando

Gonzalo how?

Gonzalo

Fernando thus: you see how through this Land, Both of the best and basest I am honour'd;
I only gave the State of Venice notice,
When, where, and how to land, or you had found A better entertainment: I was he Encourag'd young Antinous to affront
The Devil his Father: for the Devil I think Dares not do more in battel.

Fernando

But why did ye?
I find no such great policie in that.

zalo

Indeed Fernando, thou canst fight, not plot:
Had they continu'd one, they two alone Were of sufficient courage and performance To beat an Armie.

ando

Now by all my hopes,
I rather shall admire, than envy vertue.

zalo

Why then by all your hopes you'l rather have Your Brains knockt out, than learn how to be wise;
You States-man? Well Sir, I did more than this,
When Cassilane crav'd from the common treasure Pay for his Souldiers, I strook home, and lent him An hundred thousand Duckets.

ando

Marry Sir,
The policy was little, the love l[e]ss,
And honesty least of all.

zalo

How say ye by that?
Go fight, I say goe fight, I'll talk no more with you,
You are insensible.

ando

Well, I shall observe ye.

zalo

Why look you Sir, by this means have I got
The greatest part of Cassilanes estate
Into my hands, which he can ne're redeem,
But must of force sink: do you conceive me now?

ando

So:

But why have you importuned the Senate,
For me to sojourn with them?

zalo

There's the quintessence,
The soul, and grand elixir of my wit:
For he (according to his noble nature)
Will not be known to want, though he do want,
And will be bankrupted so much the sooner,
And made the subject of our scorn and laughter.

ando

Here's a perfect plotted stratagem.

zalo

Why? could you Imagine, that I did not hate in heart
My Countryes enemies? yes, yes, Fernando,
And I will be the man that shall undoe them.

ando

Ye are in a ready way.

zalo

I was never out on't.

Enter Gaspero

zalo

Peace,
Here comes a wise Coxcombe, a tame Coward.
Now worthy Gaspero, what,
You come (I know) to be my Lord Fernando's Conductor to old Cassilane?

pero

To wait upon him.

zalo

And my Lords the Senators sent you?

pero

My noble Lord they did.

zalo

My Lord Fernando,
This Gentleman, (as humble as you see him)
Is even this Kingdoms treasure; In a word,
'Tis his chief glory that he is not wiser Than honest, nor more honest than approv'd In truth and faith.

pero

My Lord.

zalo

You may be bold
To trust him with your bosom, he'l not deceive
If you relie upon him once.

nando]

Your name is Gaspero?

pero

Your servant.

zalo

Go commend me (Right honest Gaspero) commend me heartily To noble Cassilane, tell him my love Is vow'd to him.

pero

I shall.

zalo

I know you will.
My Lord I cannot long be absent from you.

Iando

Sir, you are now my guide.

[Exit.]

Izalo

Thus my designs

Run uncontroul'd; yet Venice though I be Intelligencer to thee, in my brain

Are other large Projects: for if proud Erota

Bend to my lure, I will be Candy's King,

And Duke of Venice too. Ha? Venice too?

O 'twas prettily shov'd in: why not? Erota

May in her love seal all sure: if she swallow

The bait, I am Lord of both; if not, yet Candy

Despight of all her power shall be ruin'd.

Enter Cassilane, Arcanes, and Annophel

silanes

Urge me no farther Annopbel.

ophel

My Lord.

silanes

Thy fathers poverty has made thee happy;

For though 'tis true, this solitary life

Sutes not with youth and beautie, O my child,

Yet 'tis the sweetest Guardian to protect

Chast names from Court aspersions; there a Lady

Tender and delicate in years and graces,

That doats upon the charms of ease and pleasure,

Is ship-wrackt on the shore; for 'tis much safer

To trust the Ocean in a leaking ship,

Than follow greatness in the wanton rites

Of luxurie and sloth.

ophel

My wishes Sir,
Have never soar'd a higher flight, than truly
To find occasion wherein I might witness My duty and obedience.

silanes

'Tis well said,
Canst thou forbear to laugh Arcanes?

anes

Why Sir?

silanes

To look upon my beggerie, to look upon My patience in my beggerie: Tell me, Does it shew handsom? bravely?
Handsom? thou wilt flatter me,
And swear that I am miserable.

anes

Nothing
More glorifies the noble, and the valiant,
Than to despise contempt: if you continue But to enjoy your self, you in your self Enjoy all store besides.

silanes

An excellent change:
I that some seven Apprentice-ships commanded A hundred Ministers, that waited on My nod, and sometimes twenty thousand souldiers, Am now retir'd, attended in my age
By one poor maid, follow'd by one old man.

anes

Sir, you are lower in your own repute Than you have reason for.

silanes

The Roman Captains,
I mean the best, such as with their blouds Purchas'd their Countreys peace, the Empires glorie, Were glad at last to get them to some Farmes, Off-from the clamours of the ingratefull great ones,
And the unsteady multitude, to live As I do now, and 'twas their blessing too, Let it be ours Arcanes.

anes

I cannot but Applaud your scorn of injuries.

silanes

Of injuries?
Arcanes, Annophel, lend both your hands.
So, what say ye now?

anes

Why now my Lord--

silanes

I swear
By all my past prosperities; thus standing Between you two, I think my self as great,
As mighty, as if in the Capitol
I stood amidst the Senators, with all The Cretan subjects prostrate at my feet.

ophel

Sir, you are here more safe.

silanes

And more beloved:
Why look ye Sirs, I can forget the weakness
Of the traduced Souldiers, the negleft
Of the fair-spoken Senate, the impietie
Of him, the villain, whom (to my dishonour)

The World miscalls my son.
But by the--

anes

Sir, remember that you promis'd no occasion Should move your patience.

silanes

Thou do'st chide me friendly,
He shall not have the honour to be thought upon Amongst us.

Enter a Servant.

Now? the news?

ant

The Secretarie,
With the Venetian prisoner, desire Admittance to your Lordship.

silanes

How? to me?
What mysterie is this? Arcanes can they,
Thinkst thou, mean any good?

anes

My Lord, they dare not Intend ought else but good.

silanes

'Tis true, they dare not;
Arcanes welcom them: Come hither Annophel, Stand close to me, we'l change our affability Into a form of State: and they shall know Our heart is still our own.

Enter Arcanes, Fernando, and Gaspero.

anes

My Lord--

silanes

Arcanes,

I know them both: Fernando, as you are A man of greatness, I should under-value
The right my sword hath fought for, to observe Low-fawning complements, but as you are A Captive and a stranger, I can love you,
And must be kind. You are welcom.

ando

'Tis the all Of my ambition.

pero

And for proof how much He truly honours your heroick vertues,
The Senate on his importunity,
Commend him to your Lordships guard.

silanes

For what?

pero

During the time of his abode in Candy,
To be your houshold guest.

ando

Wherein my Lord,
You shall more make me debtor to your nobleness, Than if you had return'd me without ransom.

silanes

Are you in earnest Sir?

ando

My sute to the Senate Shall best resolve you that.

silanes

Come hither Secretarie,
Look that this be no trick now put upon me:
For if it be--Sirrah--

pero

As I have troth
(My Lord) it only is a favour granted Upon Fernando's motion, from himself:
Your Lordship must conceive, I'de not partake Ought, but what should concern your honour; Who Has been the prop, our Countries shield, and safety, But the renowned Cassilane?

silanes

Applause?
Is Gaspero--puff--nothing--why, young Lord, Would you so much be sequester'd from those That are the blazing Comets of the time,
To live a solitary life with me?
A man forsaken? all my hospitality Is now contracted to a few; these two,
The tempest-wearied Souldier, and this Virgin;
We cannot feast your eyes with Masques and Revels, Or Courtly Anticks; the sad Sports we riot in,
Are tales of foughten fields, of Martial scars,
And things done long ago, when men of courage
Were held the best, not those well-spoken Youths, Who only carry Conquest in their tongues:
Now stories of this nature are unseasonable To entertain a great Duke's Son with.

ando

Herein
Shall my Captivity be made my happiness, Since what I lose in freedom, I regain (With int'rest) by conversing with a Souldier, So matchless for experience, as great Cassilane:
'Pray Sir, admit me.

silanes

If you, come to mock me,
I shall be angry.

lando

By the love I bear
To goodness, my intents are honourable.

silanes

Then in a word, my Lord, your visitations Shall find all due respect: but I am now Grown old, and have forgot to be an Host;
Come when you please, you are welcome.

lando

Sir, I thank you.

ophel

Good Sir, be not too urgent; for my Father Will soon be mov'd: yet, in a noble way Of courtesie, he is as easily conquer'd.

lando

Lady, your words are like your beauty, powerful;
I shall not strive more how to do him service Than how to be your servant.

silanes

She's my Daughter,
And does command this House.

lando

So I conceive her.

silanes

Do you hear?

pero

My honour'd Lord.

silanes

Commend me to them:
Tell 'em I thank them.

pero

Whom, my Lord?

silanes

The Senate;
Why, how come you so dull? O they are gracious,
And infinitely grateful--Thou art eloquent, Speak modestly in mentioning my services;
And if ought fall out in the By, that must Of meer necessity touch any act
Of my deserving praises, blush when you talk on't, Twill make them blush to hear on't.

pero

Why, my Lord--

silanes

Nay, nay, you are too wise now; good, observe me.
I do not rail against the hopeful Springall,
That builds up Monuments in Brass; rears Trophies With Mottoes and Inscriptions, quaint devices Of Poetry and Fiction; let's be quiet.

anes

You must not cross him.

pero

Not for Candy's Wealth.

ando

You shall for ever make me yours.

ophel

'Twere pity to double your Captivity.

anes

Who's here, Decius?

Enter Decius

silanes

Ha! Decius? who nam'd Decius?

ius

My duty to your Lordship, I am bold, Presuming on your noble, and known goodness To--

silanes

What?

ius

Present you with this--

silanes

Letter?

ius

Yes, my honour'd Lord.

silanes

From whom?

ius

'Please you peruse
The inside, and you shall find a name subscrib'd, In such humility, in such obedience,
That you your self will judge it tyranny
Not to receive it favourably.

silanes

Hey-day!
Good words my Masters: this is Court-infection,
And none but Cowards ply them: tell me, Decius, Without more circumstance, who is the Sender?

ius

Your most griev'd Son, Antinous.

silanes

On my life
A Challenge; speak, as thou art worthy, speak; I'll answer't.

ius

Honour'd Sir.

silanes

No honour'd Sirs-- Fool your young Idol with such pompous Attributes.
Say briefly, what contains it?

ius

'Tis a lowly Petition for your favour.

silanes

Rash young man,
But that thou art under my own roof, and know'st
I dare not any way infringe the Laws Of Hospitality, thou should'st repent Thy bold and rude intrusion. But presume not Again to shew thy Letter, for thy life; Decius, not for thy life.

anes

Nay then, (my Lord)
I can with-hold no longer; you are too rough,
And wrestle against nature with a violence
More than becomes a Father; wherein would ye Come nearer to the likeness of God, Than in your being entreated? Let not thirst Of Honour, make you quite forget you are A Man, and what makes perfect manhoods, comforts A Father.

ophel

If a memory remain
Of my departed Mother; if the purity Of her unblemish'd faith deserve to live In your remembrance, let me yet by these Awake your love to my uncomforted Brother.

lando

I am a Stranger, but so much I tender Your Sons desertful Vertues, that I vow His Sword ne'r conquer'd me so absolutely,
As shall your courtesie, if you vouchsafe
At all our instances, to new receive him Into your wonted favour.

pero

Sir, you cannot Require more low submission.

ophel

Am I not Grown vile yet in your eyes? then by the name Of Father, let me once more sue for him,
Who is the only now remaining Branch With me, of that most ancient root, whose Body
You are, dear Sir.

silanes

'Tis well, an host of furies
Could not have baited me more torturingly, More rudely, or more most unnaturally.
Decius, I say, let me no more hear from him;
For this time go thou hence, and know from me Thou art beholding to me that I have not Kill'd thee already, look to't next, look to't.
Arcanes fie, fie Annophel.
[Exit.

anes

He's gone;
Chaf'd beyond sufferance; we must follow him.

ius

Lady, this Letter is to you.

ophel

Come with me,
For we must speak in private; 'please you, Sir,
To see what entertainment our sad house Can yield?
[Exit.

ando

I shall attend you, Lady.

pero

How do you like To sojourn here, my Lord?

ando

More than to feast
With all the Princes of the Earth besides:
Gonzalo told me that thou wert honest.

pero

Yes Sir,
And you shall find it.

ando

Shall I?

pero

All my follies
Be else recorded to my shame.

ando

Enough,
My heart is here for ever lodg'd.

pero

The Lady.

lando

The place admits no time to utter all,
But Gaspero if thou wilt prove my friend, I'll say thou art--

pero

Your Servant; I conceive ye, We'll chuse some fitter leisure.

lando

Never man
Was (in a moment) or more bless'd or wretched.
[Exeunt.

Enter Hyparcha (placing two Chairs) Antinous, and Erotia.

ta

Leave us.

archa

I shall.
[Exit.

ta

Antinous, sit down.

inous

Madam.

ta

I say sit down, I do command you sit;
For look what honour thou dost gain by me,
I cannot lose it: happy Antinous,
The graces and the higher Deities Smil'd at thy Birth, and still continue it:
Then think that I (who scorn lesser examples)
Must do the like: such as do taste my power,
And talk of it with fear and reverence,

Shall do the same unto the man I favour.
I tell thee Youth, thou hast a conquest won,
Since thou cam'st home, greater than that last,
Which dignified thy Fame, greater than if Thou should'st go out again, and conquer farther;
For I am not ashamed to acknowledge My self subdued by thee.

Great Lady--

ta

Sit still, I will not hear thee else; now speak,
And speak like my Antinous, like my Souldier, Whom Cupid, and not Mars hath sent to Battel.

inous

I must (I see) be silent.

ta

So thou maist;
There's greater action in it than in clamour,
A look (if it be gracious) will begin the War,
A word conclude it; then prove no Coward, Since thou hast such a friendly enemy,
That teaches thee to conquer.

inous

You do amaze me, Madam,
I have no skill, no practice in this War,
And whether you be serious, or please
To make your sport on a dejected man, I cannot rightly guess; but be it as it will,
It is a like unhappiness to me:
My discontents bear those conditions in them,
And lay me out so wretched, no designs (However truly promising a good) Can make me relish ought but a sweet-bitter Voluntary Exile.

ta

Why an Exile?
What comfort can there be in those Companions Which sad thoughts bring along with?

Enter Hyparcha

archa

Madam.
[Musick.

ta

Whence comes this well tun'd sound?

archa

I know not, Madam.

ta

Listen Wench;
What ever friendly hands they are that send it, [Song. Let 'em play on; they are Masters of their faculty: Doth it please you, Sir?

inous

According to the time.

ta

Go to 'em, Wench,
And tell 'em, we shall thank 'em; for they have kept
As good time to our disposition, as to their instruments;
Unless Antinous shall say he loves,
There never can be sweeter accents utter'd.

Enter Philander.

ander

Let then the heart that did employ those hands, Receive some small share of your thanks with them,
'Tis happiness enough that you did like it;
A fortune unto me, that I should send it

In such a lucky minute; but to obtain So gracious welcome did exceed my hopes.

ta

Good Prince, I thank you for't.

ander

O Madam, pour not (too fast) joys on me,
But sprinkle 'em so gently I may stand 'em;
It is enough at first, you have laid aside Those cruel angry looks out of your eyes,
With which (as with your lovely) you did strike
All your Beholders in an Ecstasie.

ta

Philander, you have long profest to love me.

ander

Have I but profest it, Madam?

ta

Nay, but hear me?

ander

More attentively than to an Oracle.

ta

And I will speak more truly, if more can be;
Nor shall my language be wrapt up in Riddles, But plain as truth it self; I love this Gentleman, Whose grief has made him so incapable Of Love, he will not hear, at least not understand it.
I, that have lookt with scornful eyes on thee,
And other Princes, mighty in their states,
And in their friends as fortunate, have now pray'd,
In a petitionary kind almost,
This man, this well-deserving man, (that I must say)
To look upon this beauty, yet you see He casts his eyes rather upon the ground,

Than he will turn 'em this way; Philander, You look pale; I'll talk no more.

ander

Pray go forward; I would be your Martyr, To dye thus, were immortally to live.

ta

Will you go to him then, and speak for me?
You have loved longer, but not ferventer, Know how to speak, for you have done it like An Orator, even for your self; then how will you for me Whom you profess to love above your self.

ander

The Curses of Dissemblers follow me Unto my Grave, and if I do not so.

ta

You may (as all men do) speak boldlier, better
In their friends cause still, than in your own;
But speak your utmost, yet you cannot feign,
I will stand by, and blush to witness it.
Tell him, since I beheld him, I have lost
The happiness of this life, food, and rest;
A quiet bosome, and the state I went with.
Tell him how he has humbled the proud,
And made the living but a dead Erota.
Tell him withal, that she is better pleas'd With thinking on him, than enjoying these.
Tell him--Philander, Prince; I talk in vain
To you, you do not mark me.

ander

Indeed I do.

ta

But thou dost look so pale,
As thou wilt spoil the story in relating.

ander

Not, if I can but live to tell it.

ta

It may be you have not the heart.

ander

I have a will I am sure how e'r my heart May play the Coward, but if you please, I'll try.

ta

If a kiss will strengthen thee, I give you leave To challenge it, nay, I will give it you.

ander

O that a man should taste such heavenly bliss,
And be enjoyn'd to beg it for another!

ta

Alas, it is a misery I grieve
To put you to, and I will suffer rather In his tyranny, than thou in mine.

ander

Nay Madam, since I cannot have your love,
I will endeavour to deserve your pity;
For I had rather have within the grave
Your love, than you should want it upon earth.
But how can I hope, with a feeble tongue
To instruct him in the rudiments of love, When your most powerful Beauty cannot work it?

ta

Do what thou wilt (Philander) the request Is so unreasonable, that I quit thee of it.
I desire now no more but the true patience,
And fortitude of Lovers, with those helps Of sighs and tears, which I think is all the Physick--

ander

O if he did but hear you 'twere enough;
And I will 'wake him from his Apoplexie.
Antinous.

inous

My Lord?

ander

Nay, 'pray,
No courtesie to me, you are my Lord, (Indeed you are) for you command her heart
That commands mine; nor can you want to know it.
For look you, she that told it you in words, Explains it now more passionately in tears;
Either thou hast no heart, or a marble one,
If those drops cannot melt it; prithee look up And see how sorrow sits within her eyes,
And love the grief she goes with (if not her)
Of which thou art the Parent; and never yet Was there (by Nature) that thing made so stony But it would love what ever it begot.

inous

He that begot me did beget these cares
Which are good issues, though happily by him Esteemed Monsters: Nay, the ill-judging World Is likely enough to give them those Characters.

ander

What's this to love, and to the Lady? he's old, Wrathful, perverse, self-will'd, and full of anger,
Which are his faults; but let them not be thine;
He thrusts you from his love, she pulls thee on;
He doubts your Vertues, she doth double them;
O either use thine own eyes, or take mine,
And with them my heart, then thou wilt love her,
Nay, dote upon her more than on thy duty,
And men will praise thee equally for it,

Neglecting her, condemn thee as a man Unworthy such a fortune: O Antinous,
'Tis not the friendship that I bear to thee,
But her command, that makes me utter this;
And when I have prevail'd, let her but say, Philander, you must dye or this is nothing,
It shall be done together with a breath,
With the same willingness I live to serve her.

ta

No more, Philander.

ander

All I have done, is little yet to purpose,
But ere I leave him I will perceive him blush;
And make him feel the passions that I do,
And every true Lover will assist me in't,
And lend me their sad sighs to blow it home,
For Cupid wants a Dart to wound this bosome.

ta

No more, no more, Philander, I can endure no more, Pray let him go; go good Antinous, make peace With your own mind, no matter though I perish.
[Ex.

Actus Quartus

Scena Prima

Enter Hyparcha, and Mochingo

archa

I Cannot help it.

hingo

Nor do I require it,
The malady needs no Physician,
Help hospital people.

archa

I am glad to hear
You are so valiant.

hingo

Valiant?
Can any man be proud that is not valiant?
Foolish Woman, what would'st thou say? thou-- know not what to call thee.

archa

I can you,
For I can call you Coxcomb, Ass, and Puppy.

hingo

You do do it, I thank you.

archa

That you'll lose a Fortune, Which a Cobler better deserves than thou dost.

hingo

Do not provoke my magnanimity,
For when I am incens'd I am insensible, Go tell thy Lady, that hath sent me word
She will discard me, that I discard her,
And throw a scorn upon her, which I would not,
But that she does me wrong.

Enter Erotia, and Antinous.

ta

Do you not glory in your Conquest more,
To take some great man Prisoner, than to kill him?
And shall a Lady find less mercy from you,
That yields her self your Captive, and for her Ransome,

Will give the Jewel of her life, her heart,
Which she hath lockt from all men but thy self?
For shame (Antinous) throw this dulness off; Art thou a man no where but in the field?

archa

He must hear Drums, and Trumpets ere he sleeps,
And at this instant dreams he's in his Armour;
These iron-hearted Souldiers are so cold, Till they be beaten to a Womans Arms,
And then they love 'em better than their own;
No Fort can hold them out.

inous

What pity it is (Madam) that your self,
Who are all Excellence, should become so wretched,
To think on such a Wretch as Grief hath made me!
Seldome despairing men look up to Heaven,
Although it still speak to 'em in its Glories;
For when sad thoughts perplex the mind of man,
There is a Plummet in the heart that weighs,
And pulls us (living) to the dust we came from;
Did you but see the miseries you pursue, (As I the happiness that I avoid That doubles my afflictions) you would flye Unto some Wilderness, or to your Grave,
And there find better Comforts than in me,
For Love and Cares can never dwell together.

ta

They should,
If thou hadst but my Love and I thy Cares.

inous

What wild Beast in the Desart but would be Taught by this Tongue to leave his Cruelty, Though all the beauties of the face were vail'd!
But I am savager than any Beast,

And shall be so till Decius does arrive, Whom with so much submission I have sent Under my hand, that if he do not bring His Benediction back, he must to me Be much more cruel than I to you.

ta

Is't but your Fathers pardon you desire?

inous

With his love, and then nothing next that, like yours.

Enter Decius

ta

Decius is come.

inous

O welcome Friend; if I apprehend not Too much of joy, there's comfort in thy looks.

ta

There is indeed; I prithee Decius speak it.

ius

How! prithee Decius! this Woman's strangely alter'd.

inous

Why dost not speak (good friend) and tell me how The reverend Blessing of my life receiv'd My humble lines; wept he for joy?

ius

No, there's a Letter will inform you more;
Yet I can tell you what I think will grieve you,
The Old Man is in want and angry still,
And poverty is the Bellows to the Coal
More than distaste from you as I imagine.

inous

What's here? how's this? It cannot be! now sure My griefs delude my senses.

ta

In his looks
I read a world of Changes; Decius, mark With what a sad amazement he surveys
The News; canst thou guess what 'tis?

ius

None good, I fear.

ta

I fear so too; and then--

inous

It is her hand.

ta

Are you not well?

inous

Too well: if I were ought
But Rock, this Letter would conclude my miseries, Peruse it (Lady) and resolve me then,
In what a case I stand.

ius

Sir, the worst is,
Your Fathers lowness and distaste.

inous

No, Decius,
My Sister writes Fernando has made suit For love to her; and to express sincerely His constant truth, hath like a noble Gentleman, Discovered plots of treachery; contriv'd
By false Gonzalo, not intending more
The utter ruine of our house, than generally Candies Confusion.

ius

'Tis a generous part Of young Fernando.

inous

'Tis, and I could wish
All thrift to his affections, Decius.
You find the sum on't, Madam.

ta

Yes, I do.

inous

And can you now yet think a heart oppress With such a throng of cares, can entertain An amorous thought? Love frees all toils but one, Calamity and it can ill agree.

ta

Will't please you speak my doom?

inous

Alas, great Lady,
Why will you flatter thus a desperate Man That is quite cast away? O had you not Procur'd the Senates Warrant to enforce My stay, I had not heard of these sad News.
What would ye have me do?

ta

Love me, or kill me,
One word shall sentence either; for as Truth
Is just, if you refuse me, I am resolute Not to out-live my thralldome.

inous

Gentle Lady.

ta

Say, must I live, or dye?

ius

My Lord, how can you Be so inexorable? here's Occasion Of succouring your Father in his wants Securely profer'd, pray Sir, entertain it.

ta

What is my sentence?

inous

What you please to have it.

ta

As thou art gentle speak those words again.

inous

Madam, you have prevail'd; yet give me leave Without offence, ere I resign the interest Your heart hath in my heart, to prove your secresie.

ta

Antinous, 'tis the greatest argument
Of thy affections to me.

inous

Madam, thus then,
My Father stands for certain sums engag'd
To treacherous Gonzalo; and has morgag'd
The greatest part of his estate to him;
If you receive this Mortgage, and procure Acquittance from Gonzalo to my Father, I am what you would have me be.

ta

You'll love me then?

inous

Provided (Madam) that my Father know not I am an Agent for him.

ta

If I fail
In this, I am unworthy to be lov'd.

inous

Then (with your favour) thus I seal my truth,
To day, and Decius witness how unchangingly I shall still love Erota.

ta

Thou hast quickned
A dying heart, Antinous.

ius

This is well;
Much happiness to both.

Enter Hyparcha

archa

The Lord Gonzalo
Attends you, Madam.

ta

Comes as we could wish, Withdraw Antinous, here's a Closet, where You may partake his errand; let him enter.

Enter Gonzalo

inous

Madam you must be wary.
[Exit

ta

Fear it not,
I will be ready for him; to entertain him With smiling Welcome. Noble Sir, you take Advantage of the time; it had been fit

Some notice of your presence might have fashion'd
A more prepared state.

zalo

Do you mock me, Madam?

ta

Trust me, you wrong your judgment, to repute
My Gratitude a fault; I have examin'd Your portly carriage, and will now confess It hath not slightly won me.

zalo

The Wind's turn'd;
I thought 'twould come to this; it pleas'd us, Madam,
At our last interview, to mention Love;
Have you consider'd on't?

ta

With more than common Content: but Sir, if what you spoke you meant, (As I have cause to doubt) then--

zalo

What, (sweet Lady?)

ta

Methinks we should lay by this form of stateliness; Loves Courtship is familiar, and for instance,
See what a change it hath begot in me,
I could talk humbly now, as Lovers use.

zalo

And I, and I, we meet in one self-centre Of blest Consent.

ta

I hope my weakness, Sir, Shall not deserve neglect; but if it prove so

I am not the first Lady has been ruin'd
By being too credulous; you will smart for't one day.

zalo

Angel-like Lady, let me be held a Villain, If I love not sincerely.

ta

Would I knew it.

zalo

Make proof by any fit Command.

ta

What, do you mean to marry me?

zalo

How! mean? nay more, I mean
To make you Empress of my Earthly Fortunes, Regent of my desires, for did you covet
To be a real Queen, I could advance you.

ta

Now I perceive you slight me, and would make me More simple than my Sexes frailty warrants.

zalo

But say your mind, and you shall be a Queen.

ta

On those Conditions, call me yours.

zalo

Enough.
But are we safe?

ta

Assuredly.

zalo

In short,
Yet, Lady, first be plain; would you not chuse Much rather to prefer your own Sun-rising, Than any's else though ne'r so near entituled By Blood, or right of Birth?

ta

'Tis a question
Needs not a resolution.

zalo

Good; what if I set the Crown of Candy on your head?

ta

I were a Queen indeed then.

zalo

Madam, know
There's but a Boy 'twixt you and it; suppose him Transhap'd into an Angel.

ta

Wise Gonzalo,
I cannot but admire thee.

zalo

'Tis worth thinking on;
Besides, your Husband shall be Duke of Venice.

ta

Gonzalo, Duke of Venice?

zalo

You are mine you say?

ta

Pish: you but dally with me; and would lull me
In a rich golden dream.

zalo

You are too much distrustfull of my truth.

ta

Then you must give me leave to apprehend
The means, and manner how.

zalo

Why thus--

ta

You shall not,
We may be over-heard; Affairs and counsels
Of such high nature, are not to be trusted
Not to the Air it self, you shall in writing, Draw out the full design; which if effected,
I am as I profess.

zalo

O I applaud
Your ready care, and secresie.

ta

Gonzalo,
There is a bar yet, 'twixt our hopes and us,
And that must be remov'd.

zalo

What is't?

ta

Old Cassilane.

zalo

Ha? fear not him: I build upon his ruins Already.

ta

I would find a smother course
To shift him off.

zalo

As how?

ta

We'll talk in private,
I have a ready plot.

zalo

I shall adore you.
[Exeunt.]

Enter Fernando, a[n]d Annophel

ando

Madam, although I hate unnoble practices, And therefore have perform'd no more than what I ought, for honours safety: yet Annophel, Thy love hath been the spur, to urge me forward For speedier diligence.

ophel

Sir your own fame
And memory will best reward themselves.

ando

All gain is loss (sweet beauty) if I miss My comforts here: The Brother and the Sister Have double conquer'd me, but thou maist triumph.

ophel

Good Sir, I have a Father.

ando

Yes, a brave one;
Could'st thou obscure thy beauty, yet the happiness
Of being but his Daughter, were a dower Fit for a Prince: what say ye?

ophel

You have deserv'd
As much as I should grant.

ando

By this fair hand
I take possession.

ophel

What in words I dare not,
Imagine in my silence.

ando

Thou art all vertue.

Enter Cassilanes, and Arcanes

silanes

I'll tell thee how: Baldwin the Emperour, Pretending title, more through tyranny,
Than right of conquest, or descent, usurp'd
The stile of Lord o're all the Grecian Islands,
And under colour of an amity With Creet, prefer'd the Marquess Mountferato
To be our Governor; the Cretians vex'd
By the ambitious Turks, in hope of aid From the Emperour, receiv'd for General,
This Mountferato; he (the wars appeased) Plots with the state of Venice and takes money
Of them for Candy: they paid well, he steals Away in secret; since which time, that right
The state of Venice claims o're Candy, is By purchase, not inheritance or Conquest:
And hence grows all our quarrel.

anes

So an Usurer
Or Lumbard-Jew, might with some bags of trash, Buy half the Western world.

silanes

Mony, Arcanes,
Is now a God on Earth: it cracks virginities,

And turns a Christian, Turk; Bribes justice, cut-throats honour, does what not?

anes

Not captives Candy.

silanes

Nor makes thee dishonest,
Nor me a Coward---Now Sir, here is homely, But friendly entertainment.

ando

Sir, I find it.

anes

And like it, do ye not?

ando

My repair speaks for me.

silanes

Fernando we are speaking off--how this?

Enter Gonzalo, and Gaspero, with a Casket

zalo

Your friend, and servant.

silanes

Creditors, my Lord,
Are Masters and no Servants: as the world goes, Debtors are very slaves to those to whom They have been beholding to; in which respect,
I should fear you Gonzalo.

zalo

Me, my Lord?
You owe me nothing.

silanes

What, nor love, nor mony?

zalo

Yes, love, I hope, not mony.

silanes

All this braverie

Will scarcely make that good.

zalo

'Tis done already:

See Sir, your Mortgage which I only took,

In case you and your son had in the wars

Miscarried: I yield it up again: 'tis yours.

silanes

Are ye so conscionable?

zalo

'Tis your own.

silanes

Pish, pish, I'll not receive what is not mine,

That were a dangerous business.

zalo

Sir, I am paid for't,

The summes you borrowed, are return'd; The bonds

Cancel'd, and your acquittance formerly seal'd:

Look here Sir, Gaspero is witness to it.

pero

My honoured Lord, I am.

zalo

My Lord Fernando,

Arcanes and the rest, you all shall testifie,

That I acquit Lord Cassilane for ever,

Of any debts to me.

pero

'Tis plain and ample:
Fortune will once again smile on us fairly.

silanes

But hark ye, hark ye, if you be in earnest, Whence comes this bounty? or whose is't?

zalo

In short,
The great Erota by this Secretary, Return'd me my full due.

silanes

Erota? why Should she do this?

zalo

You must ask her the cause,
She knows it best.

silanes

So ho, Arcanes, none
But women pity us? soft-hearted women?
I am become a brave fellow now, Arcanes, Am I not?

anes

Why Sir, if the gracious Princess Have took more special notice of your services,
And means to be more thankfull than some others,
It were an injury to gratitude,
To disesteem her favours.

ophel

Sir she ever
For your sake most respectfully lov'd me.

silanes

The Senate, and the body of this Kingdom
Are herein (let me speak it without arrogance)

Beholding to her: I will thank her for it;
And if she have reserv'd a means whereby
I may repay this bounty with some service,
She shall be then my Patroness: come Sirs, We'll taste a cup of wine together now.

zalo

Fernando, I must speak with you in secret.

ando

You shall--Now Gaspero, all's well.

pero

There's news

You must be acquainted with.

Come, there is no master-piece in Art, like Policie.

[Exeunt.]

Actus Quintus

Scena Prima.

Enter Fernando, and Michael

ando

The Senate is inform'd at full.

hael

Gonzalo

Dreams not of my arrival yet.

ando

Nor thinks

'Tis possible his plots can be discover'd:

He fatts himself with hopes of Crowns, and Kingdoms,

And laughs securely, to imagine how

He means to gull all but himself: when truly, None is so grosly gull'd as he.

hael

There was never
A more arch villain.

ando

Peace, the Senate comes.

Enter Porphicio, Pos. Senators, and Gaspero, Attend

phycio

How closely Treason cloaks it self in forms Of Civil honesty!

enne

And yet how palpably Does heaven reveal it!

ando

Gracious Lords.

pero

The Embassadour,
Lord Paulo Michael, Advocate
To the great Duke of Venice.

phycio

You are most welcome,
Your Master is a just and noble Prince.

hael

My Lords, he bad me say, that you may know How much he scorns, and (as good Princes ought) Defies base indirect, and godless treacheries;
To your more Sacred wisdoms he refers
The punishment due to the false Gonzalo,
Or else to send him home to Venice.

enne

Herein
The Duke is royal: Gaspero, the Prince Of Cyprus answer'd he would come.

pero

My Lords,
He will not long be absent.

Enter Philander, and Melitus

phycio

You Fernando,
Have made the State your debtor: worthy Prince,
We shall be sutors to you for your presence,
In hearing, and determining of matters Greatly concerning Candy.

ander

Fathers, I am A stranger.

senne

Why, the cause, my Lord, concerns
A stranger: please you seat your self.

ander

How e're
Unfit, since you will have it so, my Lords, You shall command me.

phycio

You my Lord Fernando, With the Ambassador, withdraw a while.

ando

My Lords, we shall.
[Ex.

senne

Melitus, and the Secretary, Give notice to Gonzalo, that the Senate Requires his presence.
[Ex. Gas. and Mel.

Enter Cassilane, and Arca

ander

What concerns the business?

phycio

Thus noble Prince--

silanes

Let me alone, thou troublest me,
I will be heard.

anes

You know not what you do.

senne

Forbear: who's he that is so rude? what's he that dares To interrupt our counsels?

silanes

One that has guarded,
Those Purple robes from Cankers worse than Moths,
One that hath kept your fleeces on your backs,
That would have been snatch'd from you: but I see
'Tis better now to be a Dog, a Spaniel
In times of Peace, then boast the bruised scars, Purchas'd with loss of bloud in noble wars,
My Lords, I speak to you.

phycio

Lord Cassilane,
We know not what you mean.

silanes

Yes, you are set Upon a bench of justice; and a day
Will come (hear this, and quake ye potent great ones)
When you your selves shall stand before a judge, Who in a pair of scales will weigh your actions, Without abatement of one grain: as then You would be found full weight, I charge ye fathers Let me have justice now.

senne

Lord Cassilane,
What strange distemperature provokes distrust
Of our impartiality? be sure We'll flatter no mans injuries.

silanes

'Tis well;
You have a Law, Lords, that without remorse Dooms such as are belepred with the curse Of foul ingratitude unto death.

phycio

We have.

silanes

Then do me justice.

Enter Antinous, Decius, Erota, Hyparcha.

ius

Mad-man, whither run'st thou?

inous

Peace Decius, I am deaf.

archa

Will you forget
Your greatness, and your modesty?

ta Hyparcha

leave, I will not hear.

inous

Lady; great, gentle, Lady.

ta

Prethee young man forbear to interrupt me, Triumph not in thy fortunes; I will speak.

senne

More uproars yet! who are they that disturb us?

silanes

The viper's come; his fears have drawn him hither,
And now, my Lords, be Ch[ro]nicled for ever,
And give me justice against this vile Monster, This bastard of my bloud.

ta

'Tis justice, Fathers,
I sue for too: and though I might command it, (If you remember Lords, whose child I was) Yet I will humbly beg it; this old wretch Has forfeited his life to me.

silanes

Tricks, tricks;
Complots, devices, 'twixt these pair of young-ones,
To blunt the edge of your well temper'd Swords, Wherewith you strike offenders, Lords, but I Am not a baby to be fear'd with bug-bears,
'Tis justice I require.

ta

And I.

inous

You speak too tenderly; and too much like yourself
To mean a cruelty; which would make monstrous
Your Sex: yet for the loves sake, which you once

Pleas'd to pretend, give my griev'd Father leave To urge his own revenge; you have no cause For yours: keep peace about ye.

silanes

Will you hear me?

ander

Here's some strange novelty.

senne

Sure we are mock'd,
Speak one at once: say wherein hath your Son Transgress'd the Law?

silanes

O the gross mists of dulness!
Are you this Kingdomes Oracles, yet can be So ignorant? first hear, and then consider.
That I begot him, gave him birth and life,
And education, were, I must confess,
But duties of a Father: I did more;
I taught him how to manage Arms, to dare
An Enemy; to court both death and dangers;
Yet these were but additions to compleat
A well accomplish'd Souldier: I did more yet.
I made him chief Commander in the field
Next to my self, and gave him the full prospeft
Of honour, and preferment; train'd him up
In all perfections of a Martiallist:
But he unmindful of his gratitude,
You know with what contempt of my deserts,
First kick'd against mine honour, scorn'd all My services; then got the palm of glory Unto himself: yet not content with this,
He (lastly) hath conspir'd my death, and sought Means to engage me to this Lady's debt, Whose bounty all my whole estate could never Give satisfaction to: now honoured Fathers,

For this cause only, if your Law be law,
And you the Ministers of justice; then Think of this strange ingratitude in him.

ander

Can this be so Antinous?

inous

'Tis all true,
Nor hath my much wrong'd father limn'd my faults
In colours half so black, as in themselves,
My guilt hath dy'd them: were there mercy left,
Yet mine own shame would be my Executioner:
Lords, I am guilty.

ta

Thou beliest, Antinous, Thine innocence: alas, my Lords, he's desperate,
And talks he knows not what: you must not credit His lunacy; I can my self disprove
This accusation: Cassilane, be yet More mercifull; I beg it.

silanes

Time, not fate,
The world, or what is in it, shall not alter
My resolution: he shall dye.

ta

The Senats
Prayers, or weeping Lovers, shall not alter My resolution: thou shalt dye.

inous

Why Madam,
Are ye all Marble?

ienne

Leave your shifts Antinous, What plead you to your Fathers accusation?

Antinous

Most fully guilty.

Antipater

You have doom'd your self,
We cannot quit you now.

Antipater

A burthen'd conscience
Will never need a hang-man: hadst thou dar'd
To have deni'd it, then this Sword of mine Should on thy head have prov'd thy tongue a liar.

Antipater

Thy sword? wretched old man, thou hast liv'd too long To carry peace or comfort to thy grave;
Thou art a man condemn'd: my Lords, this tyrant Had perish'd but for me, I still suppli'd His miserable wants; I sent his Daughter Money to buy him food; the bread he eat,
Was from my purse: when he (vain-gloriously)
To dive into the peoples hearts, had pawn'd His birth-right, I redeem'd it, sent it to him,
And for requitall, only made my suite,
That he would please to new receive his son Into his favour, for whose love I told him I had been still so friendly: but then he
As void of gratitude, as all good nature, Distracted like a mad man, boasted hither
To pull this vengeance on himself, and us;
For why, my Lords, since by the Law, all means Is blotted out of your commission,
As this hard hearted Father hath accus'd Noble Antinous, his unblemished Son,
So I accuse this Father, and crave judgement.

silanes

All this is but deceit, meer trifles forg'd
By combination to defeat the process Of Justice, I will have Antinous life.

anes

Sir, what do ye mean?

ta

I will have Cassilane's.

inous

Cunning and cruel Lady, runs the stream Of your affections this way? have you not Conquest enough by treading on my grave?
Unless you send me thither in a shroud Steept in my fathers bloud? as you are woman, As the protests of love you vow'd were honest;
Be gentler to my Father.

ta

Cassilane,
Thou hast a heart of flint: let my intreaties,
My tears, the Sacrifice of griefs unfeigned, Melt it: yet be a Father to thy son, Unmask thy long besotted judgement, see A low obedience kneeling at the feet Of nature, I beseech you.

silanes

Pish, you cozen
Your hopes: your plots are idle: I am resolute.

ta

Antinous, urge no further.

inous

Hence thou Sorcery
Of a beguiling softness, I will stand,
Like the earths center, unmov'd; Lords your breath

Must finish these divisions: I confess Civility doth teach I should not speak Against a Lady of her birth, so high As great Erota, but her injuries And thankless wrongs to me, urge me to cry Aloud for justice, Fathers.

ius

Whither run you?

inous

For (honoured fathers) that you all may know That I alone am not unmatchable In crimes of this condition, lest perhaps You might conceive, as yet the case appears,
That this foul stain, and guilt runs in a bloud;
Before this presence, I accuse this Lady Of as much vile ingratitude to me.

silanes

Impudent Traitor!

ander

Her? O spare Antinous;
The world reputes thee valiant, do not soyle
All thy past nobleness with such a cowardize.
As murdering innocent Ladies will stamp on thee.

inous

Brave Prince, with what unwillingness I force Her follies, and in those her sin, be witness,
All these about me: she is bloody minded,
And turns the justice of the Law to rigor:
It is her cruelites, not I accuse her:
Shall I have Audience?

ta

Let him speak my Lords.

ius

Your memory will rot.

inous

Cast all your eyes
On this, what shall I call her? truthless woman, When often in my discontents, the sway
Of her unruly bloud, her untam'd passion, (Or name it as you list) had hour by hour Solicited my love, she vow'd at last
She could not, would not live unless I granted
What she long sued for: I in tender pity,
To save a Lady of her birth from ruine,
Gave her her life, and promis'd to be hers:
Nor urg'd I ought from her, but secresie,
And then enjoyn'd her to supply such wants
As I perceiv'd my Fathers late engagements Had made him subject to; what shall I heap up Long repetitions? she to quit my pity,
Not only hath discover'd to my Father What she had promis'd to conceal, but also Hath drawn my life into this fatal forfeit;
For which since I must dye, I crave a like Equality of justice against her;
Not that I covet bloud, but that she may not Practise this art of falsehood on some other, Perhaps more worthy of her love hereafter.

phycio

If this be true--

ta

My Lords, be as the Law is, Indifferent, upright, I do plead guilty:
Now Sir, what glory have you got by this?
'Las man, I meant not to outlive thy doom, Shall we be friends in death?

silanes

Hear me, the villain Scandals her, honour'd Lords.

ta

Leave off to doat,
And dye a wise man.

inous

I am over-reach'd,
And master'd in my own resolution.

ander

Will ye be wilfull Madam? here's the curse Of loves disdain.

silanes

Why sit you like dumb Statues?
Demur no longer.

senne

Cassilane, Erota,
Antinous, death ye ask; and 'tis your dooms,
You in your follies liv'd, dye in your follies.

silanes

I am reveng'd, and thank you for it.

ta

Yes, and I: Antinous hath been gracious.

inous

Sir, may I presume to crave a blessing from you Before we part?

silanes

Yes, such a one as Parents Bestow on cursed sons, now now, I laugh
To see how those poor younglings are both cheated
Of life and comfort: look ye, look ye, Lords,
I go but some ten minutes (more or less)

Before my time, but they have finely cozen'd Themselves of many, many hopefull years Amidst their prime of youth and glory; now

Enter Annophel

My vengeance is made full. Welcom my joy, Thou com'st to take a seasonable blessing
From thy half buried Fathers hand; I am dead Already girle, and so is she and he,
We all are worms-meat now.

ophel

I have heard all;
Nor shall you dye alone: Lords on my knees
I beg for justice too.

phycio

'Gainst whom, for what?

ophel

First let me be resolv'd; does the Law favour None, be they ne're so mighty?

phycio

Not the greatest.

ophel

Then justly I accuse of foul ingratitude My Lords, you of the Senate all, not one Excepted.

ienne Porphycio

Us?

ander

Annophel--

ophel

You are the Authors
Of this unthrifty bloud-shed; when your enemies

Came marching to your gates, your children suck'd not Safe at their Mothers breasts, your very Cloysters Were not secure, your starting-holes of refuge
Not free from danger, nor your lives your own:
In this most desperate Ecstasie, my Father,
This aged man, not only undertook To guard your lives, but did so; and beat off
The daring foe; for you he pawn'd his lands,
To pay your Souldiers, who without their pay Refus'd to strike a blow: but, Lords, when peace Was purchas'd for you, and victorie brought home, Where was your gratitude, who in your Coffers Hoarded the rustic treasure which was due To my unminded Father? he was glad To live retir'd in want, in penurie, Whilst you made feasts of surfeit, and forgot Your debts to him: The sum of all is this,
You have been unthankfull to him; and I crave
The rigor of the Law against you all.

silanes

My Royal spirited daughter!

ta

Annophel

Thou art a worthy wench; let me embrace thee.

ophel

Lords, why do ye keep your seats? they are no places For such as are offenders.

ienne

Though our ignorance
Of Cassilanes engagements might asswage Severity of justice, yet to shew
How no excuse should smooth a breach of Law,
I yield me to the trial of it.

phycio

So must I:
Great Prince of Cyprus, you are left
The only Moderator in this difference;
And as you are a Prince be a Protector To wofull Candy.

ander

What a Scene of miserie Hath thine obdurate frowardness (old man) Drawn on thy Countries bosom? and for that Thy proud ambition could not mount so high As to be stil'd thy Countries only Patron, Thy malice hath descended to the depth Of Hell, to be renowned in the Title Of the destroyer? dost thou yet perceive What curses all posterity will brand Thy grave with? that at once hast rob'd this Kingdom Of honour and of safety.

ta

Children yet unborn
Will stop their ears when thou art nam'd.

anes

The world will be too little to contain The memorie of this detested deed;
The Furies will abhorr it.

ius

What the sword
Could not enforce, your peevish thirst of honour (A brave, cold, weak, imaginarie fame) Hath brought on Candy: Candy groans, not these That are to die.

ander

'Tis happiness enough
For them, that they shall not survive to see

The wounds wherewith thou stab'st the land that gave Thee life and name.

ius

'Tis Candy's wrack shall feel--

silanes

The mischief of your folly.

phycio Possenne

Annophel--

lophel

I will not be entreated.

silanes

Prethee Annophel.

lophel

Why would ye urge me to a mercy which You in your self allow not?

silanes

'Tis the Law,
That if the party who complains, remit
The offender, he is freed: is't not so Lords?

phycio Possenne

'Tis so.

silanes

Antinous, By my shame observe What a close witch-craft popular applause is:
I am awak'd, and with clear eyes behold
The Lethargie wherein my reason long Hath been be-charm'd: live, live, my matchless son, Blest in thy Fathers blessing; much more blest In thine own vertues: let me dew thy cheeks
With my unmanly tears: Rise, I forgive thee:

And good Antinous, if I shall be thy Father Forgive me: I can speak no more.

Antinous

Dear Sir,
You new beget me now--Madam your pardon,
I heartily remit you.

Antonia

I as freely Discharge thee Cassilane.

Ophelia

My gracious Lords,
Repute me not a blemish to my Sex,
In that I strove to cure a desperate evil
With a more violent remedy: your lives,
Your honours are your own.

Antony

Then with consent
Be reconcil'd on all sides: Please you Fathers
To take your places.

Antonia

Let us again ascend,
With joy and thankfulness to Heaven: and now
To other business Lords.

Enter Gaspero, and Melitus, with Gonzalo

Melitus

Two hours and more Sir,
The Senate hath been set.

Gonzalo

And I not know it?
Who sits with them?

Melitus

My Lord, the Prince of Cyprus.

zalo

Gaspero,
Why how comes that to pass?

pero

Some weighty cause
I warrant you.

zalo

Now Lords the business? ha?
Who's here, Erota?

phycio

Secretarie do your charge Upon that Traitor.

zalo

Traitor?

pero

Yes, Gonzalo, Traitor,
Of treason to the peace and state of Candy,
I do arrest thee.

zalo

Me? thou Dog?

hael

With Licence
From this grave Senate, I arrest thee likewise Of treason to the State of Venice.

zalo

Ha?
Is Michael here? nay then I see I am undone.

ta

I shall not be your Queen, Your Dutchess, or your Empress.

zalo

Dull, dull brain.
O I am fool'd!

pero

Look Sir, do you know this hand?

hael

Do you know this Seal? First, Lords, he writes to Venice, To make a perfect league, during which time
He would in private keep some Troops in pay, Bribe all the Centinels throughout this Kingdom, Corrupt the Captains; at a Banquet poyson
The Prince, and greatest Peers, and in conclusion Yield Candy slave to Venice.

pero

Next, he contracted
With the Illustrious Princess, the Lady Erota, In hope of marriage with her, to deliver
All the Venetian gallantry, and strength, Upon their first arrival, to the mercy Of her and Candy.

ta

This is true, Gonzalo.

zalo

Let it be true: what then?

senne

My Lord Ambassadour, What's your demand?

hael

As likes the State of Candy, Either to sentence him as he deserves Here, or to send him like a slave to Venice.

phycio

We shall advise upon it.

zalo

O the Devils,
That had not thrust this trick into my pate-- A Politician fool? destruction plague Candy and Venice both.

senne Porphycio

Away with him.

itus

Come Sir, I'll see you safe.
[Exeunt Gonz. Mel.]

ta

Lords, e're you part
Be witness to another change of wonder;
Antinous, now be bold, before this presence, Freely to speak, whether or no I us'd
The humblest means affection could contrive,
To gain thy love.

inous

Madam, I must confess it,
And ever am your servant.

ta

Yes Antinous,
My servant, for my Lord thou shalt be never:
I here disclaim the interest thou hadst once In my too passionate thoughts. Most noble Prince, If yet a relique of thy wonted flames Live warm within thy bosom, then I blush not

To offer up the assurance of my faith,
To thee that hast deserv'd it best.

ander

O Madam,
You play with my calamity.

ta

Let heaven
Record my truth for ever.

ander

With more joy
Than I have words to utter, I accept it.
I also pawn you mine.

ta

The man that in requital
Of noble and un-sought affection Grows cruel, never lov'd, nor did Antinous.
Yet herein (Prince) ye are beholding to him;
For his neglect of me humbled a pride,
Which to a vertuous wife had been a Monster.

ander

For which I'll rank him my deserving friend.

inous

Much comfort dwell with you, as I could wish To him I honour most.

silanes

O my Antinous,
My own, my own good son.

ando

One suit I have to make.

ander

To whom Fernando?

ando

Lord Cassilane to you.

ilanes

To me?

ando

This Lady
Hath promised to be mine.

ophel

Your blessing Sir; Brother your love.

inous

You cannot Sir bestow her On a more noble Gentleman.

ilanes

Saist thou so?
Antinous I confirm it. Here Fernando, Live both as one; she is thine.

inous

And herein Sister,
I honour you for your wise settled love.
This is a day of Triumph, all Contentions Are happily accorded: Candy's peace Secur'd, and Venice vow'd a worthy friend.

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, “Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation.”
- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg™ License. 1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the manager of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES

EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS', WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility: www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
