SUSAN GETS READY FOR CHURCH

CHARACTER—An ordinary girl in an ordinary house on a Sunday morning.

Mother, what in the world did you let me oversleep for anyway? This toast is all dried up, (Takes top off egg) and just look at that egg; it's as hard as a rock and if there's anything I detest, it's a hard-boiled—(In surprise) You did call me? Oh, of course, but that was ages ago and you know I always take another nap after the first—Am I going to church? (With sarcasm) Well, what do you think I am! A lightning change artist, to be able to get ready in about five seconds! (takes a bite of toast). I know it's just a quarter after ten but I simply couldn't get dressed in less than an hour and church begins at eleven. Besides I haven't had my breakfast yet. (Takes a drink and makes a wry face). Goodness, but this coffee is awfully strong. It tastes as though it had been boiling for hours. It's enough to poison—(pause).

Oh, a returned missionary is going to speak? Then I'm glad I'm not going, for if there's anything I hate to have to listen to, it's a missionary sermon. They have generally forgotten how to speak the English language and keep saying A-a-h-uh until they get the word they're after. I counted two hundred and fifty-three A-a-h-uh's in that address that man from China—(indignantly) I don't see why I should be ashamed of myself. I had to do something to keep awake. And they're always begging for money, too.

The heathen don't need it nearly as badly as I do. Why, I had to pay ten dollars for my new hat alone, while they can clothe themselves on that many cents.

Their costumes are so simple, you know, just a frill around—(in surprise).

Madge got her new hat home last night! And she told me the milliner couldn't possibly have it ready for to-day. To think she'd lie to her best friend like that! (jumps up hurriedly).

That settles it; I'll simply have to go to church now, missionary or no missionary, (pause).

You don't see what Madge's hat has to do with my going to church?

Why, mother, the very idea, when you know I've had mine for two whole days. I wouldn't let her get ahead of me for the—(pause).

No, I haven't time for another bite. It's all cold anyway.

Here Jimmie, (stoops and takes off shoes) give these shoes a shine and I'll give you a nickel.

(Indignantly) Your conscience won't let you do it for less than ten cents because it's Sunday! Whoever heard of the like! First time I knew you had a conscience.

Well, I guess I'll have to give it to you then, but it will have to come out of my collection, so remember, it's the church you're robbing, not— (Puts hand up to hair.)

Oh, I forgot, my hair isn't done yet, I must run up and do it; I'll never get ready in time.

(Takes down hair, brushes and puts it up, talking continuously.) Say, I'd like to know who's been swiping my hair-pins! I just bought a box last week and now there's only four—(calls) Bess—ie! Have you taken my hair-pins? (Pause.) Well, you needn't snap my head off. I saw you slitting the pages of your book with one, I know. Come and hunt me up some of mother's, then. Hurry, or I'll be late. (Pause.)

You can find only one? Thanks, now run down and take a couple out of mother's hair, she won't mind. Be quick.

Jim—ie! Have you got those shoes shined yet? (Pause.) Well, hurry up.

(Pause.) She says her hair will come down? Well, tell her to bundle it under a boudoir cap.

(Pause.) Oh, Bessie, you're a dear. Now get my dress for me; it's hanging on the nail behind the closet door. (Pause.) No, not that one, that color wouldn't go with my new hat at—

(Pause.) You can't find it? Oh, dear, I guess I'll have to hunt for it myself. (Takes a few steps and searches frantically.)

There, (slipping it over her head) it was just exactly where I told you it was—hanging behind the door, under my suit skirt, that dress and my georgette crepe waist.

It was there all the time, but some people are so afraid of looking for anything for fear they might find it. Now fasten it up for me.

(Calls.) Jim—mie, hurr—(Jumps.) Ouch! You're sticking a pin in me. Do be more careful. (Calls as she fixes her dress.)

Mother, get my collection ready for me, please. I can just give a nickel since Jim—(Pause.) Oh, my purse is in one of my boxes in the side. (Pause.) There are five boxes? I don't know which one it's in; look in them all. (Pause.) Not in any of them? Oh, I know now. I left it in my coat pocket. It's hanging on the hall-rack.

There goes the first bell, I'll never get—Nothing in it less than a dollar bill? Well, I'll not give that, that's one thing certain. Lend me a nickel to tide me over—(Calls) Jim—mie, aren't those shoes shined yet?

(Pause.) Mother you shouldn't let him use such words, they're not—

Oh, Bessie, run and get me a handkerchief out of my box. (Pause.) None there? Then get me one of yours. (Pause.) Yes, mother, I'm coming down.

Oh, dear, where's my hymn-book? I left it on top of those books last Sunday. I guess it's fallen behind. (Pulls out books.) No, it isn't here. Where

Oh, Bessie, will you hunt up my gloves? (Pause.) No, I haven't the least idea where they are. Look in that drawer. (Pause.) Not there? Then look in the writing—Oh, I remember, I left them over to Edith's. I simply can't go to church without them, so run and get them. Hurry, I'm late now.

(Calls) Jimmie, aren't those shoes done yet? Mother, do make him hurry. I'll nev—

I suppose I might be putting on my hat while I'm waiting. (Puts it on carefully.) Mother, which way do you like it best? This way, (Jerks it to the left.) or this? (Jerks it to the right.) You like it best on straight? But mother, it must have a dip or it won't be in style. There, (Jerks to the left and examines critically.) I like it that way best. The way that curl pokes out is too cute for—Where's my fancy hat-pins gone? You can't keep anything around this place. I'll have to take Bessie's.

(Calls.) Oh, Jim—mie, do get a move on! (Severely.) Don't get into such a temper. How did I know you were coming.

Goodness, but that's some shine you've got. (Puts them on.)

You'd think—oh, oh, look at my hands; they're all over shoe polish. I'll have to wash them again.

I'll never, never get to church.

(Indignantly) Jimmy Smith, the idea of saying it's my own fault. I couldn't waken if nobody called me, could I? You ought to be so thankful that you have a sister who's anxious to go to church that you'd do anything to help her get ready.

Has any one found my hymn-book yet? Never mind, I'll get one at the door as I go—

Jimmie, run and see if—

Oh, here you are, Bessie. I thought you were never coming. (Takes gloves and starts to put one on.)

These aren't my gloves; they're Edith's, and she takes a half size smaller than I do. No, you haven't time to go back and get mine so I'll have to wear them, but they'll be a pretty tight fit. (Pause.)

Well, just look at that! Split right down the middle. They must be awfully poor kid. I didn't think she'd buy such cheap things. I'll have to hide the tear with my handker—

Oh, there goes the last bell. I'll be most awfully late, likely they'll be finishing the first hymn.

I think you people might have helped me more. One good thing, Madge can't miss seeing me. Oh, I'm going off without my handkerchief. Run and get it for me, Jimmie.

Mother, are you sure my hat's on straight? Wouldn't it be awful if Madge weren't out after all!

CURTAIN.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.
