JACK AND THE BEAN-STALK

PREFACE

In his last letter to me Caldecott wrote: 'I have been making several attempts at the Giant, and have been cogitating over the Illustrations to "Jack" generally. During the winter I shall be able to show you some of my ideas.' The following unfinished Sketches are the 'ideas,' which, with Mrs. Caldecott's kind permission, have been reproduced.

H. T.

To My Father,

In Recognition Of What This Booklet Owes To Him,

And To My Nephews,

'Golden-Hair'd' Ally, Charlie, And Michael,

Who Have So Far Condescended

As To Honour It With Their Approbation.

JACK AND THE BEAN-STALK

JACK was a poor widow's heir, but he lived as a drone in a beehive, Hardly a handstir a day did he work. To squander her earnings
Seem'd to the poor widow hard, who raved and scolded him always.
Nought in her house was left; not a cheese, not a loaf,
not an onion;
Nought but a cow in her yard, and that must go to the market.
"Sell me the cow," cried she; then he sold it, gad! for a handful——
Only to think!——of beans. She shied them out thro' the window, Cursing him: hied to her bed, there slept, but awoke in amazement,
Seeing a huge bean-stalk, many leaves, many pods, many flowers,
Rise to the clouds more tall than a tall California pine-tree;
High as a lark was Jack, scarce seen, and climbing away there.
"Where an' O where," * he shrill'd; she beheld his boots disappearing;

* "Where an' O where is my Highland laddie gone?"

Pod by pod Jack arose, till he came to a pod that alarm'd him.

Bridge-like this long pod stretch'd out, and touch'd on an island

Veil'd in vapour. A shape from the island waved him a signal,

Waved with a shining hand, and Jack with an humble obeisance

Crawl'd to the shape, who remark'd, "I gave those beans to ye, darling.

I am a fairy, a friend to ye, Jack; see yonder a Giant Lives, who slew your own good father, see what a fortress!
Enter it, have no fear, since I, your fairy, protect you."
Jack march'd up to the gate, in a moment pass'd to the kitchen

Led by the savoury smell. This Giant's wife with a ladle Basted a young elephant (Jack's namesake shriek'd and turn'd it).

Back Jack shrank in alarm: with fat cheeks peony-bulbous, Ladle in hand, she stood, and spake in a tone of amusement: .

"Oh! what a cramp'd-up, small, unesquipedalian object!"
Then from afar came steps, heavy tramps, as a pavior
hamm'ring;

Out of her huge moon-cheeks the redundant peony faded,
Jack's lank hair she grabb'd, and, looking sad resolution,
Popt him aghast in among her saucepans' grimy recesses.
Then strode in, with a loud heavy-booted thunder of heel-taps,

He with a tiger at heel—her Giant, swarthy, colossal:
"I smell flesh of a man; yea, wife, tho' he prove but a morsel, Man tastes good." She replied, "Sure thou be'est failing in eyesight;

'Tis but a young elephant, my sweetest lord, not a biped."
Down he crook'd his monstrous knees, and rested his hip-bones, Call'd for his hen, said "Lay so she, with a chuck cock-a-doodle, Dropt him an egg, pure gold, a refulgent, luminous oval,—
That was her use:—when he push'd her aside, cried,
"Bring me the meat now," Gorged his enormous meal, fell prone, and lost recollection.
Jack from a saucepan watch'd his broad chest's monstrous upheavals:
Then to the chamber above both dame and tiger ascended.
"Now for it, hist!" says Jack—"coast clear, and none to behold me," Airily Jack stole forth, and seized the plump, money-laying,
Priceless, mystical hen; ran forth, sped away to the bean-stalk,
Heard from afar, then near, heavy tramps, as a pavior
hamm'ring,
Sprang down pod by pod, with a bounding, grasshopper action,
Left the Colossus aghast at an edge of his own little island,
Lighted on earth, whom she, that bare him, fondly saluting,
Dropt a maternal tear, and dried that tear with her apron,

Seeing him home and safe; and after it, all was a hey-day,
Lots of loaves, and tons of cheeses, a barnful of onions; Cows and calves, and creams, and gold eggs piled to the ceilings:
Horses, goats, and geese, and pigs, and pugs by the hundred.
Ah! but he found in a while his life of laziness irksome.
"Climb me," the bean-stalk said with a whisper. Jack,
reascending, Swarm'd to the wonderful isle once more, and high habitation;
Led by the fairy return'd to the fortress, pass'd to the kitchen,
Unseen, hied him again to the saucepans' grimy recesses, Peep'd out into the room. The plump wife, peony-bulbous,
Toasted a constrictor, which roll'd in vast revolutions.
Then strode in, strong-booted again, with a roar, the Colossus:
Call'd for his harp, said "Play." So this, with a sharp treble ting-tong, Play'd him an air, a delightful, long-drawn, national anthem, Play'd him an air, untouch'd, (the strings, by a fairy magician Wrought, were alive). Then he shouted aloud, "Wife, bring me the meat now,"
Gorged his elongate meal; the snake in warm revolutions, Making his huge bulk swell, disappear'd like Man's macaroni:

After, he yawn'd and snored, fell prone, and lost recollection.

So Jack seized the melodious harp, and bolted. A murmur

"Master, master, a rascal, a rascal!" rang thro' the harp-strings.

Quickly the monster awoke, and wielding a cudgel,— an oak tree,—

Chased little Jack with a shout of mighty, maniacal anger;

Jack to the beanpod sprang with a leap, and desperate hurl'd his

Limbs in a downward, furious, headlong pre-cipitation, But for a wink up-glanced; his foeman's ponderous hob-nails

Shone from aloft: down crash'd big pods, and bean avalanches.

"Haste mother, haste mother, oh! mother, haste, and bring me the hatchet!"

Cried Jack, alighting on earth. She brought him an axe double-handed.

Jack cleft clean thro' the haulm; that Giant desperate hurl'd his.

Limbs in a downward, roaring, thund'ring pre-cipitation, Crash'd to the ground stone-dead with a crash as a crag from a mountain.

"I'm your master now," said Jack to the harp at his elbow;

"There's your old 'un! of him pray give your candid opinion!"

Sweetly the mystical harp responded, "Master, a rascal!"

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility:
www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
